HOME TO TESTIFY.

Cassatt Will Take the Stand.

Pennsylvania Railroad Head Ready to Aid Interstate Commerce Body.

Shows Emotion When Asked if He Would Resign Office of President.

Says He Cut Short His Trip in Europe in Response to Communication.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Upon his return from Europe today, while on board the Hamburg-American liner Amerika, Alexander J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad announced his desire to coöperate with the Interstate Commerce Commissioners in their inquiry into the relations that exist between the coal companies and coal carrying roads.

"Is it true that you contemplate resigning?" he was asked.

"I have not been asked to resign, and I am not going to resign voluntarily." When Mr. Cassatt said this he seemed to be in a nervous state and his hand was shaking.

"Did the developments in the coal stock inquiry bring you back from Europe.

"Indirectly. I came back because of what was communicated to me."

WILLING TO TESTIFY.

Mr. Cassatt declared his willingness to go upon the stand as a witness to tell all he knows, but in the same breath he added that he knows but little. Again he said he would be a witness, if his presence is desired by the commission, which may or may not be a qualification of the former remark.

When Mr. Cassatt's attention was directed to the reports that Mr. Berwind, the Berwind-White Coal Company, was supposed to have gone to Europe on the same steamer with him, but traveling incognito, Mr. Cassatt said:

"It is not true; I have not seen Mr. Berwind."

This led the president of the Pennsylvania to add that no member of the Cassatt family holds any stock in the Berwind-White Coal Company, the corporation which seems to have been favored above all other coal companies by the Pennsylvania management.

CASSATT RETICENT.

Presumably the statement that no member of the Cassatt family holds Berwind-White stock includes Mr. Cassatt himself. But an effort to pin Mr. Cassatt down to a definite denial of this point failed dismally.

When finally asked the point-blank question whther or not he holds, or has held since he has been president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, any stock in coal mining companies. Mr. Cassatt declined to answer.

These are but a few of the important matters touched upon by Mr. Cassatt dur.ng a series of disconnected talks with newspaper men on board the Amerika. He did not talk willingly and affirmed several times that he had not been interviewed. But he answered or refused to answer such questions as were put to him, which is an entire departure from Mr. Cassatt's manner and customs in the past.

HIS HANDS SHAKE.

This is but one of the reasons for the conclusion that it was a changed Mr. Cassatt who was seen on the Amerika today. It is evident that the man in the last few weeks has suffered tremendously from worry and nervousness.

At times, when cross-questioned, his hands shook with the intensity of his inward excitement. He acted like a person apprehensive of some danger. Once or twice he seemed so broken in spirit that it was like cruelty to press him with questions.

So great was the interest in the hurried home-coming of the president of the county's greatest railroad system that no less than a dozen newspaper men went out on the revenue cutter Hamilton to the lower bay to meet the steamer Amerika, on which he was a passenger.

TRIP CUT SHORT.

Mr. Cassatt was asked the reason for his hasty return, cutting short his trip through Europe. He said that he had decided to come back after receiving a communication through Capt. Green, the first vice-president of the railroad, from the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Mr. Knapp.

No abstract of the contents of this "communication" was proffered by Mr. Cassatt, but he did add, by way of explaining his quick start for home: "They said the country seemed all wrought up over the matter.

Contrary to general expectations, the Pennsylvania high officials who have been so unmercifully grilled in the coal graft inquiry did not come to New York to meet their chief.

Owing to Mr. Cassatt's apparent willingness to talk to the newspaper men, rather than bluntly feature to answer their questions, the last two hours on the Amerika may have been very unpleasant. It is scarcely possible that he can get a much worse grilling when a witness at the inquiry

REPORTERS PERSIST.

He was approached and questioned at least ten times by newspaper men as a body and separately. They talked to him in the purser's cabin, in his own stateroom, in the saloon and on the various decks of the ship.

Mrs. Cassatt, who seemed solicitous that her husband should get some rest to prepare him for the ordeal he has before him this week, got very indignant. But Mr. Cassatt, contrary to all precedents, made no protest and patiently tried to answer everything that was asked. But for the most part his answers were "I don't know," "I can't say," "I don't care to answer that."

"REDS" SECRETS TO BE LAID BARE BY POLICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The presence of Emma Goldman, high priestess of anarchy in the United States, and Alexander Birkman, recently discharged from prison, and the general activity of the "reds" throughout the world, will serve as subjects of a conference to be held by Mayor Dunne and Chief of Police Collins tomorrow.

The Chief of Police is aroused and he told the Mayor he wished to discuss the anarchists in Chicago but Mayor Dunne was unwilling to confer upon the subject. Finally he agreed.

The recent violent speeches of Miss Goldman and Birkman and the prospect of a secret conclave of the "reds" have aroused the Chief of Police.

It also is possible Chicago may take the lead in the plan of former Ambassador White. Mr. White suggested the idea of merging the police departments of the various cities of the world into an international bureau to trace the movement of all known "reds."

"It is an excellent idea," said Mayor Dunne, "and I am heartily in favor of it. In my opinion the dead should be taken by the heads of the police departments in the capital cities of the countries of Europe and America. The lead in this country should be taken by the Superintendent of the Federal police in the City of Washington. All persons who make incendiary speeches, who advocate the murder of men of wealth and the assassination of men in high places should be watched. It would make it difficult for them to commit murder if such a plan were devi-

"Is it possible the Chicago police department will take the lead in the organization of such a bureau?" he was asked.

"As I stated a moment ago the heads of the departments in the capitals should take the lead. It is possible Chief of Police Collins would take the initiative. It would be necessary for me to give the proposition more thought before I should advocate taking the lead, however."

The report that anarchists from the East would assemble with those of Chicago in a secret conclave caused labor men throughout the city to deny that their organizations were connected in any manner with the organization of the "reds."

FATHER DISOWNED MORALES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BARCELONA, June 3.—Señor Morales father of the anarchist who attempted to kill King Alfonso and Queen Victoria and who committed suicide at Torre de Joan Arteros, Saturday night, was seen at Barcelona today. He is the proprietor of a prosperous factory there. He has a strong individuality and is highly respected. Answering the questions of an inspector of police concerning his son he said:

"I wish to know nothing of this infamous creature formerly bearing my name. I have not considered him my son since I drove him from my house in March. The reason for his being cast out was purely domestic, and I beg to be excused from discussing it. I do not know whether he was connected with the attempt on the lives of the King and Queen as I have considered him dead since he was cast out."

LABOR AGITATORS CAUSE OF RIOTS.

Cananea Bloodshed Is Attributed to the Western Miners' Federation.

Walking Delegates Nightly Held Orations in Endeavor to Organize Mexicans, Stirring Them Up to Acts of Frenzy—The Only Banner Carried by the Mob of Strikers Was the Red Flag.

BY COL. J. H. M'CLINTOCK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Renewed trouble broke out at Cananea late last night between the striking Mexicans of Col. W. C. Greene's mines and smelter works and the rurales under Col. Kosterlitzsky.

Five Mexican miners were killed and thirteen injured. A rural also was shot, but not seriously.

The trouble broke out shortly before the arrival of 200 Mexican troops from Hermosillo.

Col. Kosterlitzsky declared the town under martial law and proceeded to disperse the bands of Mexicans at either end of the town. The Mexicans resisted and were fired upon by the soldiers. Then taking to the mountains, the Mexicans fired upon the American residences of the town throughout the night, and many windows were broken, but little other damage was done.

All of the American women of the town and many of the women of the higher class of Mexicans are quartered with their children in Col. Greene's home for protection.

The first Mexican soldiers to reach the scene, with the exception of Kosterlitzsky's Indian fighters, arrived about daylight this morning. They numbered 200, and came from Hermosillo, upon the order of Gov. Ysabel, joining the forces of Col. Kosterlitzsky.

Complete martial law was established and the troops were given orders to shoot to kill all persons who gave the slightest resistance to orders.

The situation is grave, and more trouble is expected.

NACO (Ariz.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The rioting and bloodshed at Cananea is chargeable, according to the best of authority, directly upon agitators representing the Western Federation of Miners and affiliated Socialistic societies, who have been infesting the great Sonora copper camp for several months.

Nightly these men have been orating upon the streets while miners sent from Denver have been attempting the almost impossible task of organizing the Mexican miners as well as the Americans. This has stirred up a number of Mexican firebrands, especially several lawyers who have been defeated for office and who hoped to raise a veritable revolution upon the basis of labor troubles.

The extent to which the Socialistic virus has diffused was shown by the fact that in the mob of strikers last Friday afternoon the only banner carried was a red flag. It is interesting to note that the banner bearer died very soon thereafter with sixteen bullets in his body.

It is notable also that there were a number of Americans who supported the Mexican rioters, though they did not make themselves prominent in the rioting and upon these men is laid the burden of blame.

AMERICAN'S EXPERT.

In the Cananea mountains, mainly in the mines and smelters of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company, are employed 8000 men, all Mexicans, save less than one thousand. The Americans, mainly expert miners, timber ment and sub bosses, have been receiving regular Arizona wages, $3.50 a day gold, or nearly $7 in Mexican currency.

The Mexicans have been paid $3.50 in silver, which is four times what they were paid for similar work before the Greene companies came to Sonora. With this they have been content until lately. But while clamoring for the pay of the Americans, there has been no particular race feeling and less than halt the Mexicans quit work Friday. Possibly a thousand were in the mob that marched down from Ronquillo, the smelter town, to do damage in the American settlement of La Mesa, a mile distant.

It happened that the company lumber yard was the first place encountered in the town. A number of Mexican laborers were working in it. When the mob tried to get these men to quit work the Metcalf brothers, who had the yard in charge, appeared, turned a fire hose upon the gathering and shot into it.

The Mexicans promptly killed them both and set fire to the yard in further revenge, the flames destroying about $150,000 worth of lumber, mainly lining timbers, but this was practically all the damage that was done to property, the mines and smelter were uninjured.

QUIET REIGNS.

The trouble at Cananea is over as far as violence is concerned. Gov. Rafael Ysabel of Sonora has been on the ground for more than a day and this morning arrived Gen. Lorenzo Torres, who has been commanding the Mexican forces against the Yaquis.

Nearly two hundred Mexican troops are patroling the two camps. Fifty of them are rurales under direct command of Lieut.-Col. Elilio Kosterlitsky, probably the most efficient officer in the Mexican service. The infantry marched overland from Hilures on the Sonora Railway, and more are on the way.

This morning every American was disarmed, thus being put on an equality with the Mexicans. One young Arizonan, Colin Bury of Phoenix, was thrown into jail for carrying a shot gun on the street.

The Arizona volunteers, 270 in number, returned this morning shortly after midnight very tired but full of the belief that it was their presence and support of the Mexican authorities that prevented great loss of life. Among them were a number of American rangers and at the head of the whole force was their captain, Thomas Rynning, a lieutenant of Rough Riders during the Spanish war.

Rynning divided his force into five companies and within ten hours had the men fairly well drilled. The command was well on its way to Cananea before the arrival of Gov. Kibbey's telegrams ordering the rangers and all other Americans to refrain from mixing in the row. Rynning heartily commends the conduct of his command, though it was hastily raised among the border business men, miners and cowboys.

FRANTIC APPEAL.

Most of the excitement along the border proceeded from the wild telephoning of Dr. Galbraigh, United States consular agent at Cananea, who appears to have been stampeded early in the affair. His accounts of the damage done and the imminent danger were lurid and he implored the American authorities to rush troops over the line to save life and property. If any other Americans were frightened they did not show it.

In telegraphing direct to Washington, Gov. Ysabel established a new diplomatic precedent. Of one thing there can be no doubt and that is the eagerness with which the Governor accepted the services of the volunteers from Arizona. Standing on the southern side of the line at Naco, he formally invited the organization before him to cross to Mexican territory for humanity's sake.

Then the Americans armed with rifles, shotguns and pistols, broke ranks, swarmed southward a few feet, there to be reorganized by Rynning.

The previous evening a party of Bisbee men had tried to cross the line near Naco but were held up by the customs officers. One American was shot, one Mexican officer killed and another wounded. This episode will, it is believed, open up a bit of international controversy.

RANGERS ORDERED BACK.

It is reported that the Americans left Cananea upon Col. Kosterlitsky's polite, but firm demand, though he always has worked in harmony with the rangers, who have even been welcomed in Cananea in the past as they searched for criminals.

Throughout it all, there appears to have been no feeling of animosity against the controlling American spirit of the Cananea region, William C. Greene, president of the great company that bears his name. He has ridden in an automobile through the crowds, making speeches in Spanish, with the Governor, and spent all last night on horseback patroling by the side of Kosterlitsky, though but lately back from Arkansas, where he had been taking treatment for acute rheumatism. His private car was at the lumber yard, but was not harmed, and his home is the refuge of all the American women left in Cananea. He was joined last night by his near friend, Col. Epes Randolph of Tucson.

Nearly all the American women of the district are now in Naco, this little burg being crammed with people.

TROOPS AT NACO.

Though a few overenthusiastic Americans celebrated their return last night with pistol shots, Naco today is more than quiet. At the edge of the townsite are encamped four troops of the Fifth United States Cavalry, commanded by Maj. Watts. The command left Fort Huachuca yesterday morning, making the thirty-five miles in half a day.

Col. Kosterlitsky today stated that his estimate of the killed at Cananea is 130, of whom seventeen were Americans. Nine Americans are in jail charged with murder. They shot into a bunch of riotous Mexicans, killing several and wounding three men. There are threats among the Mexicans of lynching them. Colin Bury was released this afternoon.

By order of Gov. Ysabel three Mexican leaders of the rioters were taken out and executed by soldiers this morning. There will be similar executions from day to day.

Yesterday at Cananea about thirty Mexicans were shot down in desultory shooting, as well as several Americans. Today was quiet, very few shots being heard.

Tomorrow trouble is expected in large measure. It is for tomorrow that the Greene company has raised the wages of the Mexican miners $1 a day, and orders have been issued that every man shall return to work on penalty of being shot if found on the streets. Scores of Mexicans have been thrown in jail.

Tonight Col. Juan Fenocchio, commander of the rurales, will arrive with reinforcements, and tomorrow night 1500 soldiers are expected, rushed from the City of Mexico to form a permanent garrison till full peace is restored. Gov. Ysabel is understood now to be deeply regretful that he invited the Americans across the line.

REFUGEES GO NORTH.

This afternoon a train from the south was crowded with refugees. One lady tells that while being escorted across a Cananea street by a friend, he was shot down by a foe concealed under a building.

Mrs. Brewer, seriously ill with peritonitis, was borne out on a stretcher through a mob and safely brought to Naco. Several attendants from the Copper Queen Hospital went to Cananea today to save the wounded.

Three Americans accidentally shot themselves, but not seriously. Col. Greene, who has not been in bed for three days, has turned very ill this afternoon of heart failure, and is being closely attended, though he is still active.

A bad feature that developed today was the arrival in Cananea hills of hundreds of Mexicans from outside points, armed and ready for trouble. To balance these, 750 Mexican soldiers arrived today from Hermosillo, having marched sixty miles in one day.

In Saturday's fight, all the Americans killed were men who probably straggled away from the firing line. Alexander Gordan, an old government scout, took four men into a well-protected position and killed more than thirty Mexicans. It was a pitched battle in which Americans and government troops scored a distinct victory.

Maj. Watts's command of cavalry will remain in camp for several days yet, but strict orders have been issued that the men remain on American soil. Gov. Kibbey has rendered his advice that all Americans remain north of the line.

Coffins went south today for a number of American victims. The bodies of the Metcalf brothers were horribly mutilated by the maddened Mexicans, their eyes being gouged out with the sharp spears of miners' candlesticks.

DEAD SHOTS TO ACT AS GUARD.

TWO SCORE OF MEN WILL PROTECT COPPER PROPERTIES.

Company Intends to Secure Body of Gun Fighters and Arm Them With Battery of Machine Guns to Quickly Suppress Any Future Outbreaks of Strikers at the Mines.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BISBEE, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A strong guard composed of men who know how to use firearms and who are willing to use them promptly whenever the occasion demands such action, is to be organsed at Cananea for the protection of the property of the Greene Copper Company. An arsenal is to be established at the mines and will be supplied with arms sufficient to repel an army.

With the consent of the Mexican government, a band of gun fighters capable of coping with twenty times their number of Mexicans is to be maintained there for the purpose of preventing a repetition of the riots of Friday and Saturday and of maintaining peace in the copper camps. There may be other attempts in future to destroy the property of the American company, but never again will the company be unprepared for just such an emergency.

As soon as the present trouble at Cananea has been settled—and it seems to be practically settled now—Col. W. C. Greene will have at his command a force of men who can be relied upon to promptly put down any uprising of the ignorant Mexican laborers who may be again incited to riot by Socialistic labor agitators.

The plan is to secure the services of two score of able men from along the Arizona border, placing them under proper officers and while nominally they will be employes of the mining company, doing such work as may be required of them, their real work will be that of preserving order.

Rapid-fire guns of various patterns will be stationed at various points throughout the camp and will be housed in buildings so that those who operate them will be in small fortresses. The possession of arms by the Mexican laborers within the limits of the camp will be forbidden.

Agitators who would stir up discontent among the miners will not be permitted to enter the camp and every possible precaution will be taken to render impossible another outbreak. If after these precautions have been taken, there is another outbreak, the company will be prepared to deal with it in the manner best calculated to put it down promptly.

It is understood that the Mexican government has given its consent to this plan and that orders have already been given for the necessary arms and other equipment.

LEGISLATE RAPIDLY.

Seven Bills Passed at Sacramento.

Measure Extending Statute of Limitations for Six Months Adopted.

Question of the Mileage of Members Causes Stir in Assembly.

Leaders Discuss the Proposed Appropriations of Over Million Dollars.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—After passing five bills considered first in the order of necessity, and two of lesser importance, the Legislature late this afternoon adjourned to meet at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. By 5 o'clock this afternoon, the signature of the Governor had been affixed to the group of measures requiring passage before the term of holidays could be declared ended and they were filed with the Secretary of State, becoming laws.

The bills in question were recommendations of the San Francisco Committee of Forty and went through both houses without material amendment. They are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 4.—Extending the statute of limitations for six months in order to provide for persons in San Francisco and elsewhere whose legal rights have been jeopardised by the fire or the holidays.

Senate Bill No. 1.—Providing that in all cases except criminal proceedings, any act required to be performed during the month of June, 1906, may be performed up to July 10, with the same legal effect.

INSURANCE LAW.

Assembly Bill No. 1.—Providing that the insurance commissioner may exact from companies statements showing the lost or burned policies.

Assembly Bill No. 3.—Extending the time for publication of the delinquent tax list until July 16.

Senate Bill No. 3.—Permitting courts to extend time for pleadings and other legal actions for a period of ninety days instead of thirty.

In addition to these the Governor signed bills providing for the contingent expenses of the Senate and Assembly.

A period of less than two hours was today required for the completion of such urgency business as confronted the Legislature at midnight. The Assembly convened at 10:30 this morning and the Senate half an hour later.

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN.

At noon a recess was declared, both houses being summoned to return to the Capitol at 4 o'clock to prepare their respective measures for transmission to the Governor. Adjournment was effected shortly before 5 o'clock.

Aside from routine procedure connected with urgency legislation the feature of the day in the Assembly was a discussion relating to allowances of mileage for the members. Jones of San Francisco opposed the adoption of the report. He suggested that each member figure his mileage on a maximum basis of four cents a mile. In conclusion he said: "Any man who opposes this amendment is taking something that does not belong to him. I believe this is a practical form of economy, and I should not like to say here what I think of any member who will take more."

REPORT ADOPTED.

The report, however, was adopted by a vote of 54 to 6, Mr. Jones gave notice of intention to reconsider. The allowance of $25, for each member's expenses in the way of stationery, and other items was last n[illegible] laid upon the table.

Despite the repeated assurance of the San Francisco delegation that the judicial measures received from the Senate had been discussed and framed to meet the urgent requirements of the occasion, several of the members from other parts of the State offered amendments that provoked repeated discussions.

It was declared that the arguments would accomplish nothing except the delay in passage of urgent measures, and state officials who were instrumental in framing the bills were invited into the assembly to consult with the members who desired to amend. Fuller explanation of the measures under consideration in several cases resulted in withdrawal of the amendments.

BLISS APPOINTED.

Assemblyman J. A. Bliss was appointed a member of the Committee on State University to succeed Assemblyman Waste, resigned.

An informal conference to consider the subject of appropriations was held this evening. Gov. Pardee, Lieut.-Gov. Anderson, Chairman Stanton and two members of the Ways and Means Committee, Dr. Hatch, secretary of the State Lunn Commission; President M. E. Dailey of the State Normal School at San José, and State Comptroller E. P. Colgan were in attendance. Appropriation measures permitted under the call were discussed and it was agreed that the bills introduced or in prospect amounted to $1,300,000.

In the opinion of the present this amount is excessive, and calls for elimination and reduction. The bills introduced provide for appropriations aggregating $209,000 for the University of California, and for the Supreme Court of the State the Legislature is to be requested to allow $35,000. Both items, it was stated, were partially based upon an assumption that the State assessment roll would be decreased from $1,500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Comptroller Colgan, however, affirmed that the reduction would not be so great.

HARD PROBLEM IN THE SUBWAY.

EFFECTIVE SIGNAL SYSTEM IS BEING SOUGHT FOR.

Chicago Underground Freight Railway System Is Great Network of Tracks and Experts Are at Loss for Devices That Would Safeguard the Running of Electric Trains.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The freight subway is presenting a problem puzzling to the signaling companies of the country, and also the officials of the company.

Recently the concern asked for bids for equipping the subway with signal devices to be used in operating the electric trains.

General Manager Collins was surprised to learn that none of the signal companies knew just how to install a signal apparatus which would be most effective in the operations of trains. The signal men informed him that the subway presented a different problem from any that had arisen.

The Chicago subway represents a network of tracks, loops and crossings as interwoven as a spider's web. How to protect them all by signal devices, and still be free to operate trains without too much delay, is the problem presented.

Thinking to get some light upon the subject, Collins asked several of the best signal experts among the railroad operating men to take a look at the subway. Before doing so, they all advised him to protect his crossings with interlocking plants, and after seeing the subway, they declared that this would be of no avail.

"I think," declared Collins, "that we will use the manual block signal, which is controlled by operators using levers. I do not think the electric-block signals, either automatic, or manually controlled, will do.

CLAIMS TO BE CHRIST.

Persian Head of Bahaism Sends Messenger to America With Words to Followers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Elias Kusal, a trusted young follower of Abdul Baha, the Persian head of Bahaism, with claims to be Christ reincarnated, has arrived in this city with a message to the followers of the cult in America.

There are ten believers in Boston and others are scattered over the country, and Kusal will tour the United States seeking them out and conveying to them the important message he bears.

Bahaism has ten million believers in Persia and India. Their leader, Abdul Baha, is a giant Persian of the highest type, is married, weighs 300 pounds and is 60 years of age.

He now lives in Acca, Syria, as the Turkish government will not allow him to preach, the Sultan fearing he will win away the followers of Mohammed. His message was smuggled away from the city of Acca.

Of the appropriation conference reports that of the Indian appropriation bill will receive first consideration, with others following when ready to be presented.

CANAL BILL PRIVILEGES.

The sea-level canal bill will hold its place as the unfinished business, but it will continue to be jostled out of position by other measures enjoying higher privileges under the rules of the Senate. It now is generally conceded that there shall be a vote on this measure before the final adjournment of the session, and with this assurance Senator Kittredge, who has charge of the bill, is content not to press unduly for its continued consideration. He will, however, be prepared to proceed with it whenever the way is clear, and will demand a vote at the earliest practicable moment. There are many speeches still to be made on the bill. Among the Senators who are expected to speak on it are Messrs. Morgan, Millard, Spooner and Hopkins.

STATEHOOD MAY PASS.

The conference report on the Statehood bill will be the subject of an animated discussion, but the belief is quite general that the report on the rate bill will be accepted after comparatively little controversy.

The question of Senator Smoot's eligibility will be raised by presentation of the report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, but it is not probable that the subject will be taken up for discussion this week.

The programme for the week in the House of Representatives contemplates work on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill. There are several matters, however, which may interrupt this plan and which injected themselves into the equation late Saturday. These are the rate bill conference report, the Statehood conference repor and the Payne bill making minor changes in the administration of the customs laws.

The regular order Monday is the passage of bills under the suspension of the rules.

The Statehood conference report will be taken up in the House just as soon as the Senate accepts it. If the Senate rejects the report, the matter may not be brought up in the House. Just what the plan in this respect is in the Senate has not been determined, but leaders predict that the Statehood bill will not be brought into the House this week.

REFORMS IN TURKEY.

ENGLISHMEN AID WORK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Some commercial reforms in Turkey are reported by Vice-Consul-General Smith-Lyte of Constantinople to the Bureau of Manufactures. The organization of a board of English merchants there has accomplished the opening of bonded warehouses and a demand for more facility in customs operations, suppression of the Hedjas stamp, free access on board, free importation of foreign securities, with the exception of lottery bonds, and suppression of the difficulties in connection with the free travel of merchants from the interior who desire to go to Constantinople to make their purchases.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS MEET.

MILWAUKEE, June 3.—The Social Democrats of Wisconsin in State convention, which met last night, and adjourned sine die at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, nominated the following ticket:

Governor, W. R. Gaylord; Lieutenant-Governor, William Kauffman; State Secretary, Charles V. Schmidt; treasurer, Joseph Ammann; insurance commissioner, H. W. Bistorius.

ROTTEN MEAT IS "TREATED" AND SOLD.

W. A. Reeves, a Former Branch House Manager for Armour, Tells of the Methods Employed in Doctoring Tainted Product to Avoid Loss.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] How the big packing companies supply managers of their branch houses in various cities with the necessary materials for "doctoring up" tainted meat is described by W. A. Reeves, a former branch house manager for the Armour and other companies.

He declared that the packers are ably assisted by certain butchers in every section of the country who are willing to handle anything so long as they get it cheap enough. These dealers are known in the packing business as "dumping grounds."

When the branch house, according to Reeves, has sent out the same rotten quarter of beef two or three times to honest retailers who refuse to accept it at any price, it goes as a last resort to the "dumping grounds," at bargain prices, and is then disposed of to the ignorant and unsophisticated consumer in some form or another, usually sausage, after it has been deodorized and "doped" with "Freesaline" or other preservatives.

"I remember one instance," said Mr. Reeves, "while I was running the branch house for the Armours at Freeport, when two fore-quarters of beef were shipped out three different times and each time returned. They were past hope of 'doctoring up' by us. Those beeves went to the local 'dumping ground.'

"We had another 'dumping ground' at Rockford. The man there runs four retail markets. On one occasion we had twelve fore-quarters of beef, the stench from which was fearful. The Rockford 'dumping ground' man bought them at 2 cents a pound.

"The cheaper grades of hams are not smoked at all because smoking and drying means shrinkage, and shrinkage of any kind is directly opposed to the business principles of the packers. In order, however, that the public may at least live under the impression that they are eating real smoked and cured hams, the hams are left in pickle several days and then painted a seductive brown with a preparation known as 'Smokelin' or 'Liquid Smoke.' Very few of the cheap grades of ham, 'picnic hams,' or 'California hams'—the latter being shoulders—ever saw the inside of a smokehouse"

RUINS WEDDED PAIR'S HOME.

Vandal Cuts Up All Carpets and Then Tries to Destroy House by Fire.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vandalism, supposed to have been committed by a jealous rival, played havoc with the newly-furnished home of David B. Orwig, who, with his bride of three days, is on a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

This afternoon the front door of his house was found standing open by neighbors, who also found evidences of what they thought was robbery.

They immediately notified F. W. Redlin, a brother-in-law, and the police as well. An investigation revealed the fact that every carpet had been torn up and cut into shreds, curtains and hangings were torn down, and slit, and two beds were burned to the iron standards. All the gas jets were turned on, and the house barely escaped being destroyed by fire.

DIAMOND STILL LODGED IN GIRL.

SHE WILL BE TRIED TOMORROW FOR STEALING THE GEM.

County Attorney Will Not Allow Surgeon to Make an Incision in the Young Woman for Purpose of Removing the Precious Stone from Vermiform Appendix.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mae Thomas and the diamond she swallowed have not parted company and there is no immediate prospect they will do so. The girl is still in jail and County Attorney Slaybauch announced this evening that he intended to put her on trial Tuesday for larceny.

The proposed operation on the woman to remove the gem from her vermiform appendix, was not undertaken today for the reason that the County Attorney would not permit her to be taken from the prison for that purpose. Dr. Henry called at the jail ready to undertake the removal of the precious stone, that has set the State by its ears. He began to discuss with the woman the arrangements for making an incision and she wished to know if the chances were for or against her living. On being assured her chances were good to survive, she asked the physician to go ahead and called for her attorney to "fix up things." It was then that an unexpected snag was struck in the determination of the County Attorney to interfere with the programme.

It is learned that Miss Thomas is impatiently waiting for release from her predicament in order that she may marry Joseph Hayes, to whom she has been engaged for six months.

THOUSANDS SEE AIRSHIP WRECK.

AERONAUT BATTLES FOR LIFE HIGH ABOVE EARTH.

Propeller of Aerial Vessel Cuts Into Gas Bag and Craft Rushes Downward Like a Shot—After Perilous Journey Man Falls Into Field and Escapes Without Serious Injury.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lincoln J. Beachey, a Toledo aeronaut, battled for his life high in the air for fifteen minutes today and then fell unconscious under his wrecked airship. The accident occurred in Luna Park and was witnessed by thousands.

The long triangular spruce framework carrying the motor of Beachey's airship collapsed when he was returning to the park after a short flight. The big six-foot propeller cut into the balloon like a buzz saw, tearing a great hole in the front end, letting the hydrogen gas escape and the balloon came down like a shot.

Beachey clung to the ropes and with rare presence of mind, dropped all his ballast. The remaining gas carried him up and the wind blew him away from the danger of striking the buildings.

The gas was blowing into Beachey's face and the relief given by casting off the ballast lasted only a moment and he fell in the middle of an open field.

When friends arrived and dragged his limp body from beneath the balloon, Beachey revived.

SCOTTY IN NEVADA.

Noted Four-Flusher Turns Up in Small Desert Town and Shows Big Roll of Greenbacks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Walter Scott, the famous "Scotty" of Death Valley reputation, has turned up at Wells, Nev. That he was not broke was evident by the crowd that followed the blue-shirted miner into a near-by saloon. He is going to Barstow at once, where his brother "Bill" now is.

"Bill is guarding the gold for me," said Scotty. "They can't get the best of Billy."

Manager Williams of the Wells saloon states that when Scotty went to pay his bill for a room full of thirsty souls Scotty flashed a roll of bills large enough to buy hotel apartments.

Scotty declined to discuss his theatrical venture and says he will have no more to do with theatricals.

JAPS MINE KOREAN REBELS.

TOKIO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch from Seoul says that the Japanese exploded a mine against the gate of the castle of Songjyu, Korea, at dawn Thursday, and took the castle, with 120 prisoners. Sixty of the rebels and two Japanese soldiers were killed. The ringleader of the rebels and 100 of his followers escaped.

A Tower of Business Strength.

Tremendous Volume of The Times' May Advertising an Indication of Existing Healthy Business Conditions in Southern California.

THE thriving trade conditions, now existing in the whole Southwest, may be truly gauged by the extraordinarily large volume of advertising regularly printed in The Los Angeles Times.

Compared with May of the preceding year, last month showed the large gain of 1190 columns of paid matter. The aggregate was 4843 columns. The combined total for the two morning contemporaries of The Times was only 3726 columns. Both papers together printed 1117 columns less than the volume of advertising printed in The Times alone.

The five other Los Angeles newspapers show a gain of 831 columns altogether. Thus The Times alone had a greater gain by 359 columns that all other Los Angeles papers combined.

These are figures for Los Angeles business men to ponder over. The volume of advertising regularly printed in The Times has never been equaled by any newspaper in America.

The sworn daily average circulation for each day of May, 1906 (the detailed figures for each day being printed on another page), was 53,133 copies, as against 41,705 copies for May, 1905.

ELEVEN KILLED IN OVERTURNED CAR.

Private Party Returning to Providence from Crescent Park Enjoying Day's Outing Comes to Grief as the Coach Leaves the Track at Curve.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) June 3.—A large fifteen-seated open car, chartered by a private party and returning to this city from Crescent Park, left the rails on a sharp curve in East Providence and was overturned. Eleven persons were killed and a large number wounded.

The dead:

JOHN SNYDER, Providence.
ALICE F. MAGILL, Thornton.
BERTHA A. KELLY, Thornton.
A. G. AMBONIA, Thornton.
ETHEL WHITELY, Providence.
GUS GUETTIN, Thornton.
BERTHA FRANKLIN, Thornton.
Four unidentified.

The car was chartered by a party from Thornton, who were returning home after a day's outing at Crescent Park, a resort on the Providence River. At Moore's Corner, the scene of the accident, there is a heavy grade, at the foot of which is a sharp curve. The car came down the grade at a rapid rate and slipped from the rails at the curve and overturned. The car left the rails with such great force that the body left the trucks and jumped more than twenty feet from the track.

Ambulances and physicians were immediately dispatched to Moore's Corner. In the meantime residents of the neighborhood did everything in their power to relieve the injured.

The motorman in charge of the car, W. J. Laughcher, was unfamiliar with the road over which he was traveling. The car, an open one, was of heavy build.

Fog prevented a clear view of the road ahead, and the motorman, unaware of the sharp curve below, allowed the car to coast rapidly down the hill. Suddenly he felt the car swing into the curve, and realizing the peril, applied the brakes and reversed the power. The car, however, was thrown into the road twenty feet from the track.

Seven of the passengers were pinioned beneath the car, and instantly killed. Those who were able began the work of rescue. A large joint was utilized as a lever, a pile of stones forming a fulcrum, and the car was raised from the ground just enough to permit the escape of its imprisoned passengers.

Two persons succeeded in escaping when the joint broke under the weight of the car, and the heavy vehicle fell back, killing two of the injured.

The rescuers again raised the car from the ground, and by building up a pile of heavy stone, kept it in position moved.

Two of those taken out, John Gavin and George Atcherson, both of whom had sustained fractured skulls, died within an hour.

NUDE MAN PICKS FLOWERS.

Residents of West Hammond were startled today when they noticed a nude man picking flowers. The men of the suburb organized a posse and surrounded the individual. He proved to be J. Dombroski, a young man who recently disappeared. At that time there was a story that he had been jilted by his sweetheart and that grief had caused him to leave the city. His strange behavior led to an examination which developed he was insane.

REUNION OF NINE BROTHERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nine brothers from many lands and climes who have been separated for eighteen years, will be reunited in Chicago within a few days. Their union was originally planned to take place in St. Louis during the World's Fair, but John Horan, a wealthy meat packer of Central Australia, William Henry, who lives in Queensland, Australia; Thomas, who owns a gold mine at Mt. Malcolm, Central Australia; and Daniel, of New Zealand, could not come. Rev. B. F. Horan, of Little Rock, arrived today and met his brothers Joseph and John Horan. The reunion will be a happy one. All have prospered. Only one brother has died of the original family of ten boys, and two girls. The nine brothers are all splendid men physically, each weighing 200 pounds and being more than six feet tall.

LOP OFF OLD MEN.

California Doctor Declares That Aged Males Ought to Be Thrown Into Scrap Heap.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "After a man drinks of life to the limit, he ought to be thrown into the scrap heap,' says Dr. Wood Hutchinson, head of the Red Plains Sanitarium in California, now here for the American Medical Association conventions this week.

His remarks created a sensation, and started a lively discussion at a conference at the American Academy of Medicine, for many of the physicians present were of advanced age."

"It is a lamentable spectacle," says Dr. Hutchinson, "too see an old man clinging to life with determination when his faculties are greatly impaired. He is only occupying the place that should be given over to a younger man. However, when we consider the matter, the aged man is not much to blame for his eagerness to live, as it is characteristic of the animal race to grasp senility with a strength that is pitiable."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BRUSSELS, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A royal decree, dealing with reforms in the Congo Free State, as a result of the recent report of the Congo Commission, will be published soon. It will be prefaced by a formal declaration signed by King Leopold, announcing that he alone is the ruler of the Congo Free State, that he may govern it as he thinks right, and that he will not brook interference from any source. One of the reforms is the giving of free access to a large part of the Congo State to foreigners who may wish to settle there.

Pistol Wrested from Hand of Assailant During Duel.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—In a dispute over the ownership of a bisquit and a mattress, and a difference of opinion in a board bill, John H. Diamond and Robert Wendt engaged in a life and death struggle in front of a lunch hut at Fifteenth and Rhode Island streets early this morning. Diamond shot Wendt in the abdomen. After being shot, Wendt wrested Diamond's pistol from his grasp and struck him the butt end of the weapon beat him almost insensibility.

When the police arrived on the scene they found one lying on the ground unconscious, and Wendt was moaning with pain from the bullet wound. The physicians at the city and county hospital say he has an even chance for recovery.

Diamond, with his head swathed in bandages is confined in Potrero Police Station on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. He is a powerful man and declares that he shot Wendt in self-defense. The latter is employed by the American Construction Company.

OREGON CAMPAIGN ENDS.

FINAL RALLIES ARE HELD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 2.—Not since the days of the Mitchell-Simon senatorial fights has a State and Congressional campaign in Oregon excited the interest as the one which closed tonight. Throughout the State the guns were fired by both parties, in large towns and many of the small ones holding enthusiastic rallies in the interests of the candidates both parties.

Senator Chamberlain, who is seeking renomination as the nominee of the Democrats, chose to close his campaign at Astoria, where he addressed a large audience on questions pertinent to this year in the State's history, while his political opponent, Dr. Withycombe, of Corvallis, addressed a great audience at the Empire Theater in this city. Hon. G. H. Williams and ex-Gov. Pennoyer also addressed the assemblage in the interests of their respective behalf.

SCIENCE SEES QUAKE CAUSE.

INVESTIGATING COMMISSION GIVES PART OF REPORT.

Some Remarkable Phenomena Due Earthquake—Stress in Earth's Crust Brings Out Rupture—Tombs of Past Ages Believed to Be Reachable.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—The preliminary report of the State Earthquake Investigating Commission was received today at the office of Gov. Pardee. It is submitted by Prof. A. C. Lawson of the University of California, one of the commission, and consists of twenty pages of printed matter under the heading of results.

It says:

"One of the remarkable features of the earthquake of California is a line of peculiar geomorphic construction which extends obliquely across the entire width of the mountainous belt from Mendocino county to Riverside county, a distance of 375 miles. This surface feature along this line is formed by a dislocation of the earth's crust, or a series of dislocations at times past, with a differential movement of the parts on either side of the plane of rupture."

The report gives a detailed description of the recognized lines of abrupt displacement due to similar phenomena, in the Sierra, traversing, with several breaks, the territory from Point Reyes to Mount Pinos, in Ventura county, a distance of 375 miles, and from the mouth of Golden Gate strait to a point across the shore line from the south of the Cliff House.

NATURE RESPONSIBLE.

"The movements that produced the rupture contributed to separate earth-materials, causing back into the Quaternary formations, the causes of these movements are attributed to the theory that they are generated in the earth's crust and accumulated until they overcome the strength of the rocks of the earth's crust and find relief in the rupture.

"The earthquake of April 18 is said to be due to one of these movements. The extent of the rift is determined from the vicinity of Arena to the neighborhood of Humboldt county, a distance of [illegible] of the rupture and the differential movement is clearly and unequivocally defined in a continuous furrow in the surface soil several feet wide. All fences, stream courses, pipe lines and dams crossed by the line are dislocated from six to twenty feet. The average horizontal displacement is twenty feet. In Sonoma and Mendocino counties, there is different vertical movement not exceeding four feet.

MEASURE POINTS CHANGE.

In consequence of the movement, it is probable that the latitudes and longitudes of all points in the coast range have been permanently changed a few feet.

From the purely scientific point of view the earthquake is one of the most interesting on record, and is in some respects unique. A complete study of the phenomena will undoubtedly contribute greatly not only to our knowledge of the evolution of the earth's crust, but also to our knowledge of the means of minimizing the calamities which arise from the destruction of buildings and water pipes when such shocks occur in the future.

Certain of the studies which have this object in view fall within the province of the structural engineer and architect and they have already formulated many suggestions dealing with principles and materials of construction which will be of very great value in the future construction of buildings, not only in San Francisco but in all parts of the country, which are subject to earthquake shocks.

PECULIAR FEATURE.

One of the remarkable features of the coast ranges of California is a line of peculiar geomorphic construction which extends obliquely across the entire width of the mountainous belt from Mendocino county to Riverside county.

It is recommended that costly public buildings be erected on slopes upon which sound rock foundations may be reached. The State University building is said to have escaped greater damage on this account and it is affirmed that many school buildings were so flimsily constructed as to be unable to withstand the shock.

Modern class of structures appear to have been relatively passive, while the "made" ground in their vicinity was profoundly disturbed. The weak points in frame buildings were the faulty underpinning, lack of bracing and the chimneys. Pipe lines, on low, swampy ground or "made" ground, are in greater danger of destruction than those on high ground underlaid by rock.

In San Francisco the most violent destruction of buildings was on made ground which behaved as jelly in a bowl.

The minor shocks continued for many days after April 18, and in this respect the earthquake accords in behaviour with other earthquakes in the past. The minor shocks which succeed the main one are interpreted generally as due to subordinate adjustments of the earth's crust in the tendency to reach equilibrium after the first movement.

BALLOON RISES FOR LONG TRIP.

AERONAUT LEAVES LONDON FOR AUSTRIA.

Chevalier Josef Von Korwin Begins Remarkable Voyage in the Air—Is Offered Large Sum by New Yorker for Privilege of Accompanying Him, but He Decides to Fly Alone.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chevalier Josef von Korwin, a lieutenant in the Austrian army, has began his remarkable balloon voyage from London to Austria but did not start until he had refused an offer of $50,000 made by Oscar Lewisohn of New York for the privilege of accompanying him.

Mr. Lewisohn was so disappointed he would not remain to see the ascension. At any rate, he left London quickly for Paris. It was from the grounds of the Austrian exhibition at Earls Court that the ascension was made.

Calm and even gay the chevalier stood at the rim of the basket as it sailed skyward. With a wave of his hand he acknowledged the cheers and adieus of his friends and fellow-countrymen who had assembled to witness the start.

When the balloon reached a height of sixty feet, having barely cleared the top of a great tree, the northwest wind caught it and sent it speeding over London on its journey. Now, unless a mishap already has befallen him Chevalier von Korwin is probably sailing over the central part of the German empire well on his way to Austria.

HATFIELD TURNS UP.

Local Rainmaker Gets a Chance to Show If He Can Bring Rain to Yukon Country.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OTTAWA, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The House of Commons has just had before it details of a contract entered into between the council of the Yukon Territory and Charles M. Hatfield, a citizen of Los Angeles. The country in the Yukon is greatly in need of rain at certain times of the year and the unique contract is nothing less than to supply this.

According to details of the contract, Hatfield is to receive $10,000 if he succeeds in producing a plentiful supply of rain between May and September and, in event, the living and traveling expenses of himself and assistant would be paid. Half of the money, in event of Hatfield producing rain, is to be paid by mine owners, the other half by the Yukon Council. A board of seven members will decide whether or not Hatfield has earned the money, three to be named by the Yukon Council, three by Hatfield and the seventh to be chosen by the other six.

Hatfield, who is a citizen of Los Angeles, was due to arrive in the Yukon lately, so a waiting world should soon know whether or not he possesses the power to make the heavens ween.

NEEDLESS CARVINGS MADE IN SURGERY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sensational statement was made today before the Academy of Medicine by Prof. Dieulafoy, who said many persons merely suffering from muco-membraneous or sabulous typhlocolitis, are wrongly operated upon for appendicitis.

In muco-membraneous typhlocolitis there is pain in the right iliac fossa, which resembles that caused by appendicitis.

Dr. Dieulafoy pointed out it was rare for persons to suffer from appendicitis and typhlocolitis at the same time, and in any case, appendicitis is neither a consequence nor result of typhlocolitis.

He expresses the opinion that the number of errors of diagnosis and unnecessary operations performed were on the increase. It has been demonstrated, he said, muco-membraneous typhlocolitis had nothing to do with appendicitis.

It is necessary that great care be taken in making the diagnosis, as it is time to put an end to useless surgical operations.

MURDERED AS HE SLUMBERED.

FIENDISH CRIME IN FREIGHT YARDS AT BRAWLEY.

Assassin Steals Up to the Bedside When Everyone Is Sleeping—Slays Victim Brutally—Murdered Man Camped Outdoors for Health—Robbery Not Thought.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRAWLEY, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A man supposed to be D. R. Harmsby of Los Angeles, was brutally murdered here last night, his body being found this morning by employés of the Brawley Cantaloupe Association. In common with many others, Harmsby had been sleeping out in the open air on account of the warm weather.

The murdered man had selected a sheltered spot where the ground was soft in the freight yards of the railroad company. A handcar stood on a siding and he camped almost under this and had evidently retired early and slept soundly. Many others camping in their blankets in the vicinity were awake until late, but no one saw a prowler hanging about in a suspicious manner, nor did any one see the murderer in vicinity of the spot where Harmsby lay asleep in his blanket.

The murderer had evidently waited until sure that every one was sleeping soundly, when he crept to the place where Harmsby lay, and taking a heavy crow-bar from the hand car, dealt the sleeping man a terrific blow on the head, crushed his skull and evidently killing him instantly.

The the fiend struck the dead man several times with the heavy instrument to make sure that he had accomplished his purpose, afterward slinking away. He has succeeded in covering his tracks so well that the authorities have no clue to his identity.

Robbery evidently was not the motive for the crime, as all of Harmsby's money, $104 was found on the body. A letter signed by Homer Smithson was the only means of identifying the remains. The Coroner will hold an inquest Monday. The officers are working on the case, but so far no arrests have been made.

PULLMANS DEFY LAW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If a compromise in the rate bill with respect to sleeping car companies does not prevail, it is understood that the Pullman company will ignore the law and will question in the courts the right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate its affairs.

It is further understood from people interested in the Pullman company that no effort has been made by that company to secure eradication of the clause in the bill regarding sleeping car companies because of the firm conviction that it was unconstitutional and could be easily attacked upon that ground. Since its organization innumerable attempts have been made by State Legislatures to make the Pullman company amendable to control as common carriers and all have failed. In each case where the legal status of the company has been before the Supreme courts of various States they have declared the Pullman company not to be a common carrier.

ROCKEFELLER NOT STINGY.

Story Sent Out by His Own Physician That Pasadena Golf Caddies Liked the Monopolist.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Strong insight into Rockefeller's character may be gained from his golf playing," writes Dr. Biggar of his patient. "I remember when he was playing with the late Marshall Field in Chicago. A dispute arose and Field insisted that he was right. Rockefeller also insisted that he was right and finally proved his proposition by Field's own caddy. That is a trait of the man; insisting on maintaining his ground when he believes himself right.

"It was in Pasadena, Cal., where Rockefeller was accused of being stingy because he did not give the caddies large tips. He conformed to the rules of the links where he was playing, and before he left there was not a boy who was not glad to caddy for him."

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Report on Niagara Falls.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Chairman Burton of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee has submitted a report upon the bill to protect Niagara Falls. ENDS SPREE AND LIFE.

Expressman Turns on the Gas While Intoxicated and Is Found Too Late to Save His Life.

W. H. Carson, an expressman living at No. 710 Lamar street, died in the Receiving Hospital at 8:30 o'clock last night as the result of inhaling illuminating gas.

The man had been intoxicated for several days and returned home early Sunday morning in a drunken condition. When he failed to awaken Sunday afternoon his door was forced open and the man found unconscious on the floor.

Carson was removed to the Receiving Hospital about 5 o'clock, and police surgeons worked over him for some time in the hope of saving his life.

Little is known of him here. He lived with a Mexican family, and is said to have been a widower.

SEEKS TO END LIFE.

Despondent Young Woman Throws Herself in Front of Car, but Is Not Seriously Injured.

Annie Fiebiger, aged 27, attempted suicide by throwing herself in front of a Main-street car at Fortieth street and Moneta avenue at 10:45 o'clock last night. She was only slightly injured, the car being brought to a standstill before her body was rolled beneath the wheels. She came from San Francisco a few days after the earthquake, and has become despondent over her inability to find employment.

After being placed in the Receiving Hospital last night Miss Fiebiger became very uncommunicative, and talked with much reluctance to Police Matron Gilbert. Her actions clearly indicated that she desired to kill herself, and the few statements which she made revealed her disappointment at the unsuccessful attempt at suicide.

DOUMA FACES A LAND WAR.

Peasantry Wants an Immediate Allotment.

Lower House Split Over the Disquieting Question.

Government's Stand May Cause Uprising.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—Two days of debate in Parliament on the great and burning question of Russia—the satisfaction of the land hunger of the peasantry—has demonstrated that the lower house no longer has plain sailing ahead. A divergence of views has developed, which threatens to split the constitutional democratic majority and possibly wreck the party.

The government, in its enjoyment of the spectacle of its enemies fighting among themselves, seems oblivious to the fact that failure to find a solution of the question, no matter on whose shoulders the responsibility falls, will arouse the peasantry to fury. All reports agree that the Mujiks in the interior are land mad and are thinking and talking of nothing else, but the coming allotment.

RESIST SOCIALISM.

Nevertheless, the divisions which have developed in the lower house of Parliament indicate plainly a resistance to universal forced expropriation of church, crown and private lands, and also show a refusal to give way to the socialistic demonstration for the complete abolition of the rights of private property. A saner appreciation of the responsibility of Parliament also is becoming apparent among the peasants, who no longer attempt to defend the idea that they should not pay for the land.

But, on the other hand, there is evidence that some of the leaders are merely playing politics, believing they must win support to peasants at any cost. In the case of Prof. Hertzenstein, who is deliberately sacrificing his reputation as the foremost economist of Russia, suspicion is not lacking that he is seeking by advocating a realisation of the wildest dreams of the peasantry, to promote favorable legislation for his co-religionists.

WILL REJECT PLAN.

Several points of the proclamation in the lower house already are clear. The government's plan of denying all forced expropriation and of offering to purchase lands for peasants through the peasant bank and emigration to Siberia will be rejected. Forced expropriation will be insisted upon, but whether "the land fund" thus created will be distributed in fee simple or by lease, as the advocates of nationalization desire, is a matter which still is to be fought out as must also questions in connection with payments first, whether landlords shall be remunerated in government bonds and second, whether repayment shall be paid by holders or lessees of land or by general taxation.

OWNERS STAND FIRM.

The land owners of the central provinces, headed by Prince Volinsky, together with the land owners of Poland and the western provinces under the leadership of Prince Pollatewsky and Baron Ropp, while admitting the necessity for a certain amount of expropriation, take a strong position against division of the big estates which they contend would mean ruin. They equally oppose the nationalization of land as a step backward.

Another group of owners, headed by the Constitutional Democrats, M. Petrajaki of St. Petersburg, and Prince Tvoff of the Province of Tula, advocate expropriation of crown, church and private land, but declare they never will consent to its nationalization.

The peasants of the borderlands, especially those in the Baltic provinces, although insistent upon expropriations, oppose the nationalization of land.

WU TING FANG ON LEAVE.

Former Minister to Washington Probably Will Live in Shanghai Hereafter.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, June 3.—Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese Minister to Washington, has left Peking on a leave of absence. It is said that he probably will live in Shanghai, being disgusted with Chinese official life.

After he returned from America Wu Ting Fang gained considerable influence over the Empress Dowager, but the court officials threw obstacles in the path of his reform scheme and their intrigues finally relegated him to minor offices without power. He has been outspoken in his denunciations of the rottenness of Chinese officialdom. A few years ago he would have lost his head for his plain speaking.

ANARCHISTS' DEN NEAR ROME.

Fourteen Are Arrested at Ancona Suspected of Plotting Against Royalty.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, June 3.—The police, suspecting anarchist plots at Ancona, on the Adriatic, 185 miles northeast of Rome, made a sudden descent on several houses there. A barber, one Gabbiabelli, and twelve other anarchists were arrested. The Italian police discovered a plot against King Alfonso a few days before the attempted assassination at Madrid, and informed the Spanish police.

BODY TO REST IN IRELAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hibernian lodges here are planning to disinter the body of Miss Fannie Parnell, sister of the great Irish leader, Charles Stuart Parnell, from Mt. Auburn Cemetery and convey it to Ireland for burial at her birthplace there. A subscription was started for a monument to mark her grave, which has just been discovered in a neglected condition, unmarked, in Mt. Auburn, but as the body is in the Tudor family tomb, this plan is not feasible, and the money will be used to send the body to Ireland.

RESCUERS AND LAD DROWN.

Two Boys Try to Save Life of Youth in Water and All Three Perish.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARTFORD (Ct.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In an effort to save from drowning their thirteen-year-old comrade, Millir Petruse, two boys, John Bonadies, 16 years old, and Umberto Frusco, 14 years old, were caught with Petruse by a treacherous current, and swept out into the Connecticut River, and sank before the eyes of scores of persons, who were unable to render any assistance.

The boys were swimming in North Meadow Creek, which empties into the Connecticut River. At the mouth of the river is a bank of quicksand. Petruse struck this, and to save himself from being pulled under, flung himself out into the water, where the current caught him in an instant.

Without hesitation the other two boys jumped in after him. They were strong swimmers, but were unable to reach their comrade, who sank. Tired out by their exertions, the other brave lads failed to reach shore again.

GRATEFUL FOR THE FREE TOOLS.

SAN FRANCISCO'S MECHANICS TAKING FRESH HEART.

Last Applications for Carpenters Tools Will Be Received Monday Morning—Plumbers' and Machinists' Tools Are Already Exhausted. Labor Unionists Show Their Gall.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] During the past two days many carpenters, machinists, plumbers and other artisans have been placed in a position to become wage earners through the distribution of tools by the Los Angeles Times free tool bureau. These men have gratefully accepted the help offered them and will become no small factor in rebuilding the city. It is gratifying to note the general good character of the men making application and the sound endorsements which they bring from their employers before the fire, or from reputable business men who were personally aware of their condition and their worthiness to participate in this tool distribution. Of course there have been some attempts to "work" the bureau by irresponsible characters; but these have been promptly nipped in the bud.

With an assurance born of monumental cheek, the secretary and walking delegate of the Machinists' Union appeared at the Times bureau with the books of the union and calmly announced his intention of "assisting" in the distribution. Walking delegates from the Carpenters' Union also made overtures for the control of the distribution; but they were given to understand in no uncertain language that while the union men would find nothing in their way if they furnished proper credentials, independent workingmen would have the same opportunity, and each case would be considered individually. After several "business agents" had sent to the bureau "orders" for tools, these men seemed to see a fight, and attempts to secure tools in bulk ceased.

It is touching to hear the expressions of gratitude from many men who have secured outfits and are now in a position to earn skilled workmen's wages. Frequently strong men have been moved to tears on receipt of their outfits or orders entitling them to draw these tools from stores.

It is noticeable also that many men who have been employers are now going back to the trades which they followed. There are very few applications from men living outside of San Francisco. Such applicants are required to furnish credentials as carefully as those who live here. At the closing of the bureau this evening all the plumbers' and machinists' tools had been taken by applications which have been indorsed; in fact many more sets would have been required to fill the applications now on file.

On Monday morning the last applications for carpenters' tools will be received. It has been necessary at several times to close the bureau in order to shut out the rush of men and to give an opportunity for outfitting those who held orders. Several days will be required to place the balance of the tools in the hands of the applicants.

RECEPTION TO DR. TENNEY.

American Consul at Tien-Tsin Entertains English Professor on Eve of Departure.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, June 3.—James W. Ragsdale, the American Consul-General at Tien-Tsin, gave a farewell reception yesterday to Dr. Tenney, who sails from Kobé, Japan, June 26, on the steamer Tangu Maru for Seattle, accompanied by forty-five Chinese students who will be distributed among eastern colleges.

All the Americans residing in Tien-Tsin attended the reception. The students whom Dr. Tenney will conduct to America belong to good Chinese families, and all speak English. They have been outfitted with foreign clothes and they will have their queues cut before leaving Shanghai.

ASSASSIN SUSPECT TRACED.

Supposed Bomb Thrower at King Alfonso's Wedding Is Manufacturer's Son.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BARCELONA, June 3.—Inquiry at Sabadell show that Morales, the chief suspect in the attempt to assassinate King Alfonso, is the son of a manufacturer there. He was educated in Germany, where he became imbued with anarchistic ideas. His disposition rendered him insufferable to his family, and last January, having inherited $20,000, he left his father's house.

MAY SETTLE CRETAN QUESTION.

LONDON, June 3.—The Observer says that as a result of King Edward's recent visit to Greece, a settlement of the Cretan question is probable, Greek troops replacing the international guards, the Suda Bay lapsing to Great Britain and Prince George of Greece possibly becoming Governor of Cyprus.

A Woman's Gratitude
"For more than a year I had been a sufferer, completely broken down. I had not slept but two or three hours any night for weeks. I had such awful misery in my head, and oh, I was so irritable. I could not depend upon my judgement, and my memory was failing. I realized that I was losing my mind, and I thought the grave, or worse, the asylum, would be my doom. My doctor said my case was beyond the reach of medicine. I went to a druggist and told him my condition. He recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine; he was pretty sure it would help me, so I bought a bottle. That night I took a table spoonful, and fell asleep in a few minutes, the first rest I had in weeks, and oh, I will never forget that sweet sleep while I live. I have continued taking it, and sleep like a baby, and gain rapidly."

Things will really not commence to get hot until the President strikes the match trust.

Unless Porfirio Diaz is a changed man, those trouble-breeding Mexicans at Cananea have something coming to them.

A Long Beach man has sold out his telephone interests along the Coast for $1,250,000. Still we are told that talk is cheap.

It must make William J. Bryan sick to think that all these things are being done to the trusts while he is out of the country.

With Col. Kosterlitzky, Col. Greene and Col. Randolph on the ground, no further outbreaks in Cananea need now be feared.

There yet may be hope for Chicago. She is filling her jails with union-labor thugs who have been caught red-handed with the goods.

A company has been formed to get salt from the sea at Santa Monica. The stockholders need have no fear but the supply is ample.

Suspicion is now rife that Norway and Sweden may get together again. They have joined in a request for a loan from European bankers.

It has always been the rule that men felt it necessary to live up to their reputations. Heaven help the pork packers if they have that to do now.

When Kosterlitsky's rurales struck Cananea the rioting Mexicans assumed an attitude of peace. Kosterlitsky is a fierce proposition: and it is a wiry bunch of troopers that follows on his heels.

John D. Rockefeller has been accused of spelling "gentleman" with a "j." But perhaps he does not claim to be up on spelling. It is at figures that John shines.

It is now thought that at the last moment the Countess Anna will relent sufficiently to leave Boni enough money to buy a new pair of corsets for himself, anyhow.

The question now is will even the California "machine" have the effrontery and the stupidity to renominate "the weak brother" for another term in the office of Governor.

The Mexican government could in no better way show its good faith than by welcoming the Arizona Rangers across the border when the trouble at Cananea was reported.

That battered-up Los Angeles baseball club which Capt. Dilion took north with him is giving a good account of itself. When the bunch returns the fans ought to give them a royal welcome.

The Western Federation of Miners is kept busy these days sending fraternal greetings of sympathy to the brethren accused of murder in Idaho and Colorado, and to the dynamiters of Mexico.

Of course the Legislature has been called together primarily to aid San Francisco, but, incidentally, it will also be some help to Sacramento. For a few days the State capital will be real lively again.

The strict religious sect of Mennonites having now issued permission to its members to use telephones, we are at a loss to know whether the Mennonites think they are so bulwarked in righteousness that the devil can't tease them, or they just want to put themselves to the test.

An appeal for aid for the starving peasants of Russia is being sent out by Countess Olga Tolstoy. And it was only a few weeks ago that an appeal was sent out in behalf of the starving peasants of Japan. These two nations, it will be remembered, recently waged a great war against each other. Wonder if the lesson will do either of them any good?

LOCAL MEAT INSPECTION.

The disgusting details of the filthy and unsanitary practices in some of the Eastern slaughter-houses have not been without effect in Los Angeles, and many people are asking what it is best to do in order to insure to our citizens immunity from the sale of diseased and otherwise unfit meats in the local markets. Numerous suggestions have been made to and by the Board of Health, and that body, at its meeting on Thursday evening, will doubtless consider the whole subject thoroughly, and will be prepared to make some practical recommendations to the Council.

It is conceded that the people of Los Angeles are not adequate protected at present in the matter of meat inspection. It should be made impossible for any butcher to buy, or for any person to sell, within the city limits, meat of any kind without inspection and approval by some person competent to judge of the fitness for consumption. Under the present system, or lack of system, it is possible to slaughter diseased animals and place their flesh upon the local market without inspection or restriction. That this offense is committed very frequently there is no reasonable doubt. At all events, if the offense is not of common commission, no harm can be done to anybody by a system of thorough inspection. If it be of common practice, as is claimed, better inspection is imperatively demanded, and it is the duty of the city to supply the demand.

Dr. Powers, city health officer, and members of the Board of Health, advocate the establishment of a municipal slaughter-house. The plan has much in its favor, and it is worthy of the most careful consideration. It is claimed, and with apparent reason, that a city slaughter-house, once established, would pay the cost of its maintenance by fees that would be collected on animals slaughtered. At such a place thorough inspection would be demanded of course, and all meat going forth from it would bear a stamp of approval which would guarantee its fitness for consumption. Retail meat dealers would find it to their distinct advantage to purchase meat bearing the official guaranty, for their customers would demand it. Furthermore, it should be made unlawful to sell meat not bearing the inspector's stamp anywhere in the city.

If there are any serious objections to the establishment of a municipal abattoir, they have not yet been brought forward. Properly conducted, such an establishment would practically solve the problem of preventing the sale of unwholesome meats in the city. If any better plan presents itself it should have due consideration. But it is not to be denied that something should be done to secure a more general and more thorough inspection of meats. This much is due to the public. There can be no reasonable doubt as to the status of public opinion in this matter, and public opinion should make itself felt and heard at the first opportunity, and at every opportunity.

GRAFTERS TURNED DOWN.

The first thing that a California Legislature attends to when it is called to order in regular or special session is graft. Patronage, which means the appointment of a mob of useless attachés, is the most important subject in the minds of some of the statesmen, and the Assembly is swamped with motions to increase the number of clerks provided for in the committee report and to put the sisters, cousins, nephews and heelers of certain members on the salary list.

The usual scramble for graft characterized the opening of the special session. Patriot Jones jumped to the front with a resolution allowing each member $25 for "contingent" expenses in addition to salary and mileage. Other statesmen demanded assistants to clerks and the statutory officers, and they managed to get three assistants to the postmistress.

But to the credit of the Legislature as a whole, the grafters and treasury-looters were turned down, and the special session will struggle along with not more than twice as many attachés as can find anything to do. The usual patronage grab will be postponed to the regular session.

ELASTIC BANK LOANS.

There is pending before the Senate an important bill looking to the modification of the laws governing the action of national banks in making loans. As the law stands, a national bank is prohibited from making a loan to any one borrower amounting to more than one-tenth of its capital stock. The proposed law enlarges the loan to one-tenth of the capital stock plus one-tenth of the unimpaired surplus, but it is stipulated that in no case shall the loan exceed 20 per cent. of the capital. It will readily be seen that it gives the banks much more elasticity.

As this bill was introduced into the House of Representatives, it provided for making a loan to the full extent of 10 per cent. of the capital stock of the bank plus 10 per cent. of its unimpaired surplus. The House amended the original bill, limiting the possible loan to one-twentieth of the entire capital stock. Some of the organs of the banks profess an inability to see any reason for this amendment. These no doubt reflect the views of many of the great bankers, who claim that the amendment impairs the value of the proposed law, while conceding that it is an improvement over the present law. The view of the banker seems to be that the surplus is entitled to exactly the same treatment as the capital stock. An instance is given of the Chemical National Bank of New York with a small capital of only $300,000 and an enormous surplus of $7,800,000. Under the proposed law as amended, the largest loan this bank would be allowed to make to any one borrower would be 20 per cent. of $300,000, its capital stock, viz., $60,000. If the bill had remained as it was introduced, permitting the loan of 10 per cent. of the capital stock plus 10 per cent. of the unimpaired surplus this bank might loan to one individual as much as $800,000.

To those not well instructed in the banking business it may seem evident that there is a reason for treating the capital stock somewhat differently from the surplus; the capital stock cannot be disturbed without considerable trouble, but it is thought that there is no obstacle in the way of reducing the surplus by distributing it among the stockholders. Now if the bank named above should make a loan of $800,000 to any borrower and afterwards could distribute a substantial part of the surplus during the time of the validity of the loan, the stability of the bank in time of financial trouble would not be so great as under the law as amended. This may be the view the members of the House of Representatives took in amending the measure.

The bankers think the effect of this amendment will be to force banks constituted like the Chemical National to increase the capital stock at the expense of their surplus. If the surplus is to remain unimpaired, some may wonder why the banks object to converting it into a larger issue of stock. The taxation is the same in either case, and the legislators assert that this enlargement of the capital at the expense of the surplus would furnish to the depositors a greater safeguard. Pressure is being brought upon the Senate to pass the bill before adjournment in either one shape or the other, but the Senate is urged to take out of the bill the amendment passed by the House of Representatives and give to the bankers the liberty of loaning to a single borrower 10 per cent. of their combined capital and surplus.

National banks are not required to increase the surplus beyond the percentage fixed by the law, but if they do so increase it, no matter to what extent, the surplus becomes inviolable and can no more be reduced than the capital stock itself except in paying a loss. The surplus is a buffer between the capital stock and any losses falling upon the bank. The losses must be paid out of the surplus if there are sufficient funds, but the only difference between the capital stock and the surplus is that in case of the impairment of the capital stock the stockholders are obliged at once to put their hands in their pockets and make whole the full amount of the capital. While, in case of impairment of the surplus in paying a loss, the bank is allowed to make up such deficit out of its earnings as promptly as possible.

This status of the surplus being understood, there is seen to be a good deal of reason in the contention of the banks that the law controlling the making of loans, applying to the capital stock should apply equally to the surplus, for it is evident that one is as inviolable as the other.

THE GOVERNOR'S SOP.

In his message to the Legislature, Gov. Pardee wrote a paragraph which he evidently designed as a sop to Los Angeles county to make up for his failure to insert in the call for the special session a provision to enable the legislators to submit to the people a constitutional amendment or two forwarding the proposed consolidation of our city and county governments. The Governor says:

"It being reported to the San Francisco committee that Los Angeles required a new and ample water supply, which San Francisco's fate rendered more apparent, the committee decided, after listening to a committee from Los Angeles, to recommend to me such amendments to the law of 1903 as would permit Los Angeles and the surrounding unincorporated country, together with cities and towns in the vicinity of Los Angeles, to unite and issue bonds in a sum sufficient to provide that water supply. Therefore the San Francisco committee recommended to me that I incorporate in the call, and I did so incorporate therein, a proposition that you amend the law of 1903, relating to water supplies for cities, so that the city of Los Angeles and the municipalities surrounding it may be able to gain the water supply which they assured the committee and myself was so necessary for their future prosperity."

Now this won't do, even as a sop. Why did not His Excellency rather suggest the enactment of a law authorizing Los Angeles to unite with Pasadena in issuing bonds to erect a municipal brewery in Central Park? True, nobody in Los Angeles asked for this legislation; but Los Angeles has not asked for such legislation as the Governor mentions. His remarks on the subject are entirely irrelevant, so far as this city is concerned.

Los Angeles does not need any new law to enable her to issue bonds to secure water and has not suggested such a law. She has "gained" her water supply and will bring it to her doors. There is no movement on foot in this city to "unite" with any other cities or towns for this sole and specific purpose. The proposition which Gov. Pardee was asked to expedite is a plan to consolidate city and county governments for purposes of economy in administration—in order to enable one set of officers to do work which now requires two sets, to save money to taxpayers and to cut down the number of office holders, as well as to centralize the control of the free harbor and to permit the suburban towns to share in the benefits of the Owen River project while loaning their credit to the undertaking.

No, this sop won't do. It was evidently suggested by intriguing politicians. It bears their thumb marks. Gov. Pardee bears their thumb marks too.

BY MANUAL TRAINING.

The great danger in the school life of the average boy or girl is lest instruction be mistaken for education—lest the mere acquirement of facts be taken as the one essential thing, instead of the training of the faculties both to gain knowledge and to reason from the knowledge thus gained. Most school systems throughout the United States are steadily directed toward the proper goal, yet we are all familiar with the youth who leaves high school or college tolerably well instructed yet very poorly educated. He will be able, for example, to give you a correct solution of a problem in geometry, yet he may not have the faintest notion for what purposes in practical life this precise knowledge is required. The boy who leaves school in this condition of mind has been really gathering the husks and missing the kernel of intellectual equipment.

In New York there is a unique school that carries the true educational principle to its full logical conclusion. It is conducted under the auspices of the Society for Ethical Culture, and its presiding genius is Dr. Felix Adler, the well known lecturer and writer on sociological questions. The final object of this school is to teach children to be good citizens. There are 500 pupils enrolled each year, and while two-thirds of these pay fees the other third hold free scholarships, being drawn from the poorer, often the poorest, walks of life. The children are of all ages, from the kindergarten stage upward. There are no money distinctions; creeds are not recognized; no color line is drawn. Thus the school itself becomes an object-lesson in true democracy—a democracy where all men and women, of all religions, of all degrees of wealth, of all trades and callings, become earnest home-makers and State-builders, each playing his or her own essential part and entitled to the other's esteem and respect.

The cardinal note of this Ethical Culture School, as it is called, is the dignity of manual labor, which it is claimed, when fully understood, leads to the most perfect moral development of the child. In every stage of education, therefore, manual methods are employed. The children, for example, make with their own hands a waterwheel, and in every process of its building they are encouraged to ask the reason why. In this way they not only have their wits sharpened and their hands trained to many useful things—sawing, chiseling, planing, etc.—but they eventually acquire a real grasp of the principles of hydro-dynamics. What is thus in most schools mere abstract teaching, awakening little interest in the youthful mind, becomes practical teaching of the most valuable kind.

In this way, right through every grade of grammar school work, manual training is combined, and the child in course of time, following such methods, comes to understand mathematics, biology, natural science, history, sociology, fine arts, and so on, each in its true relationship to every day life. Dr. Adler's school has taken thirty years of evolution to reach its present stage, and it is certainly the most remarkable institution of its kind in the country, judged by the standard of making education not merely a matter of personal progress but also an aid to the progress of the world. While a personal visit to the Ethical School of Culture will best repay the student of educational methods, an article in the March issue of The Craftsman, will be found to convey many further interesting details.

THE CARRION CANNERS.

The Chicago packers beseech the meat consumers of the world to suspend judgment on them until an "impartial" investigation of their business can be made. But just that sort of investigation has been made, and the result thereof is the revelation of hideous conditions in the packing-houses which has made all the world sick.

The Massachusetts State Board of Health is an impartial and responsible body. It began inquiry into the meat business long before Mr. Garfield set out to probe into the affairs of the packers, and it carried the investigation into court. Within the last three months, juries in Massachusetts courts have convicted thirty-four dealers for selling embalmed meat and canned carrion prepared by the Chicago packers, and more prosecutions are coming. What the packers fear is the official statement of facts that will be made by the Bay State health authorities in their bulletins and reports.

The carrion canners are in a panic over the loss of business caused by the revelations. They beg the people to go on buying and eating their rotten and poisoned stuff. That is what they mean by "suspension of judgment." The drop in sales is what hurts, and it is the only result of exposure that does hurt.

At the Churches Yesterday.

World's Greatest Problem.

REV. STEPHEN A. NORTHROP, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached last evening on "The Greatest Problem in the World." He said in part:

"The greatest problem in the world, and what is it? In other words, how will you account for Jesus Christ? By one and all, by friend and foe, He is recognized superlatively and comparatively as the most remarkable phenomenon in all human history. Study His moral character. There are many great names in the world, characters that rank first in philosophy, science, art, poetry; they are giants in the vast army of great men; they tower above them all: Lincoln, Gladstone, Wilberforce, Luther, Paul, William I, Cromwell, but they were far from being perfect men; they had their foibles and peculiarities, but only one character in all Christian history, whose feet touch the earth and whose head is above the stars, and that is Jesus of Nazareth. He has endured all the tests of keenest scrutiny. For centuries that character has been constantly before the eyes of the sharpest critics—philosopher, logician, scientist, sage and scholar. The sculptor peers into every particle of his marble block to discover some flaw, and he generally finds it in the most beautiful stone, but not so Jesus Christ.

Dr. Northrop.

"To be sure, there have been men in the scientific world who have not cast all their crowns at the feet of Jesus, but the present-day scientist is distinctly a believer in the divinity of Jesus Christ. In 1882 letters were published from eight of the leading scientists of the world in answer to the three following questions: Are a majority of the recognized authorities in physical science hostile to Christianity? (2.) Is there any necessary antagonism between physical science and Christianity? (3.) Is the study of physical science of necessity prejudicial, in the student himself, to a personal acceptance of Jesus Christ?

"The eight men referred to were Sir John W. Dawson of McGill College; Prof. Charles A. Young of Princeton University, Prof. Tait of Edinburgh University, Prof. Kirkwood of Indiana University, and Prof. Benjamin Pierce of Harvard, Prof. Joseph le Conte of the University of California and Prof. James D. Dana of Yale College. Not one of this galaxy answered the second or third question in the affirmative; that is, not one of them believed that there is any necessary antagonism between science and Christianity; neither prejudicial in the student to a personal acceptance of it.

"How long, friend, will thou halt between two opinions in this stupendous matter between yourself and Jesus Christ? Other minds have grappled with the question, and why not you? 'What will ye do with Jesus of Nazareth?' With the Roman centurion standing by the cross, I beg you exclaim: 'Truly, this was the Son of God.' The question will some time be changed: Not what you will do with Jesus, but what will Jesus do with you?"

The Eternal Purpose.

At Burbank Hall yesterday, Rev. Joseph Smale of the First New Testament Church, spoke from the text: "According to the eternal purpose which He purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord."—Ephesians iii, 11. He said, in part:

"Of all the themes that can engage the heart of man, the highest is God. Let us think of Him before whom the inhabitants of the earth are as grasshoppers. There, in Him, truth arises, and there truth has its boundary. Get outside of God and you cannot find truth. He supplies all thoughts that are the food of the soul, and fashions every wing of inspiration whereby we soar from things earthly to things heavenly—from things material to things spiritual—from things temporal to things eternal.

"It is God's eternal purpose to bring us right up to Himself that we may be closer to Him than we are to each other. God has decreed that our sorrows shall cease. There shall be no more sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, according to His eternal purpose in Christ Jesus our Lord.'"

Moral Bondage.

The subject of the sermon delivered yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church by Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage was "Moral Bondage." His text was, "Loose him and let him go," John xi:44. Among other things, he said:

"Christ bids us help liberate the intellectual man who is struggling in his mental difficulties. He wants us to cut asunder the old bonds of prejudice with which they are born, and which are gripping them almost as powerfully as the officer's handcuffs hold the criminal by his side. He would have us not laugh at or sneer at or ridicule the doubter and the skeptic and the atheist. He bids us not hurl our taunts at the poor mental cripples, who, with hot, blistering feet, are painfully limping over the awful deserts of blighting agnosticism. But he bids us go to our brethren in mental or intellectual difficulties, and kindly and gently and lovingly, yet firmly, lead them out of the bogs and the quagmires and quicksands in which they have fallen, and in which they are struggling today. Oh the awful tragedy of being mentally blinded and being unable to get a right conception of God! Yet there are thousands of men and women who, by constitution of brain and intellect, are natural-born doubters. They suspect the sincerity of every good work, and therefore they naturally doubt God's goodness and love.

"And how many causes for doubts in reference to God we see everywhere. Here, for instance, are all the doubts men have in reference to the mysteries of the Bible. Was there ever a compass which needed to be surer or truer in the dark and almost impenetrable forests than the Star of Bethlehem, to guide the mental doubters out of the mysteries of God's providence? Here are all the mysteries of sorrow. The doubter, perhaps, has lost a little child or the mother of his children. He cannot understand why God took his loved ones. Shall we pass over these mysteries of sorrow with a mere wave of the hand? Here are all the shortcomings of Christians which blind the doubter's eyes. Perhaps some elder of a church has cheated him in a business deal. Shall not the doubter be talked to lovingly in reference to that matter, and shown how there have been Judases among Christ's professed followers at all times? Yes, Christ wants to draw to his arms those who are mentally blinded. He would have us lead them as carefully as I saw the other day a boy leading his little brother of eight summers, who was blind in both eyes, across a country field. As I saw these two boys going past me, there were tears in my eyes for an especial reason. As they were passing, I was told that only a year before that little boy's eyes were as good as yours or mine. But his own brother, who was then leading him, while hunting one day, had accidentally discharged his gun, and shot his brother's sight away. 'Oh, God!' I said to myself, 'can it be that some of us, by our own sins of commission or sins of omission, have made some of thy children mentally blind to thy love? Can it be that doubters and skeptics and agnostics and mental antagonists to God, are resisting him today merely because we will not take away the bands which are blinding their eyes—because there is no one to uncover their eyes—as the disciples of old took off the bands from the eye-sockets of helpless Lazarus? Oh, God! today give us more sympathy for the honest doubter. Inspire us with holy zeal to try to scatter these doubts away whenever and wherever they are."

Sermon by Lay Evangelist.

William E. Blackstone, a wealthy layman from Chicago known as the "lay evangelist," spoke yesterday morning at Immanuel Presbyterian Church. For thirty years Mr. Blackstone has supported scholarships in India whereby many native girls have been educated and gone out to form Christian homes or to do missionary work among their own people. In addition to this, Mr. Blackstone has built and equipped a school in India for the higher education of girls, in memory of his only daughter who died a few years ago when at the threshold of a beautiful womanhood. Last fall a son of Mr. Blackstone, a minister, went with his family as a missionary to China.

Mr. Blackstone has also made a special study of the condition and prospects of the Jews in accordance with Scriptural prophecy and his sermon yesterday morning was on "Israel" from the text found in Romans 1:16, "To the Jews First." He called attention to the priority of Israel as distinctly shown in the Scriptures and pointed out the reasons for this. "Because of their position in God's plan according to His eternal purpose the Jews are first," he declared. "No Scriptural blessing ever came to the world through Anglo-Saxon, Teutonic, Gentile or Chinese—only through Israel—the only channel of blessing, the foundation, center and heart of the church. Gentiles are wild olive branches grafted in among the Jews are God's chosen people. Indestructible, though scattered over the world.

The ceremony conducted by the pastor, Dr. Hugh K. Walker, preceding to the office of ruling elder, Messrs. W. H. Frost, J. M. Mc... J. M. Rust, C. M. Staub and ... Salisbury preceded the preaching service. C. H. Hall was also recently elected as deacon, all these gentlemen having been reelected to their respective offices.

Dr. Walker announced that an ... nate arrangement for summer services had been made between the ... tors of Immanuel Church and ... will not be necessary to call ... supply for the summer months. Dr. Walker will leave for a month's vacation July 1 and the assistant pastor, Rev. Lewis J. Adams, will occupy the pulpit during that time. Mr. Adams has just returned from the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Des Moines, and Wednesday evening will give an account to his church of the proceedings there.

Why Business Property Is The Best Investment

Business property is an absolute public necessity; as much so as are the water works, gas and electric works, street railways and steam railways.

It is permanent, tangible, visible property which the investor can know all about. Full knowledge is the best protection.

It is not subject to competition as are the railroads and all other public necessities.

Its earnings are large and dependable and are not affected by temporary fluctuations of trade.

It brings a return in rentals as long as there is any business transacted in the city.

Its improvements, under modern methods, are permanent in character, and therefore suffer little in deterioration.

It steadily increases in value as the city grows in population, wealth and commercial importance.

Its rental earnings grow larger, year by year, as the business of the city increases.

The rents of business property are always paid before any of the other bills of the tenants; the income is assured and regular.

It is not intricate to manage, like transportation or manufacturing enterprises; its fixed charges and operation expenses are small and its net revenue large.

Its value and earning power can be more readily ascertained than is the case with other investments.

These facts make central business property, in growing cities, the best investment known.

The Trustee Company divides the ownership of business property into units so that any sum may be invested in the most valuable property in the city with rental earning and increase value results to each investor the same in proportion as if he owned the entire property.

Central Business Property Investments For All

By dividing specific pieces of central business property into units for individual investment, so that any sum may be invested in the most valuable properties in the city, (with rental earnings and increasing value results to each investor the same in proportion as if he owned the entire property), and by providing, first, a method whereby each investor has full knowledge of the value and earning power of the property before he invests in it, and as long as he is interested in it; second, permanent, efficient management for the property; third, for the issuance of evidences of these unit interests in the form of Certified Investment-Bonds, which are transferable by assignment and are available for use as bank collateral; and, fourth, for the recording, sale and transfer of the Investment-Bonds representing these unit interests, without expense to the investor.

The Trustee Companies have successfully and satisfactorily commercialized business property and brought it within the reach of all investors, thus opening to the public, generally, this best of all investment fields, which heretofore has been enjoyed exclusively by large capitalists.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Brindis's musical satire, "I.O.U." is really a satire. It is the first bill of the Kolb, Dill and Dillon team at the Hotchkiss, and is a veritable paraphrase of some of the pompous labor union asininity.

Kolb and Dill are replicas of Weber and Fields. Dill is the short Dutchman, and the merriment he provokes by his assertion that "union laundrymen should wash nothing but union suits," forms a laugh that circulates for five minutes. There are more remarks of like nature, and the whole thing is well set off by Robert Pitkin's hilarious impersonation of a typical visiting delegate, who interferes in everything, and with everybody.

Kolb purveys a line of humor in his own way. His definition of a corporation is good: "A corporation, Mike, is a body of men sanctioned by law to do things you and I wouldn't dare to do."

The Hotchkiss show is an innovation, it will put on, and seems to have caught the popular favor. Standing room, and none of that for sale, is the rule at each performance.

Bessie Tannehill, soprano, has several excelling musical numbers, in which she is assisted by the chorus of twenty-four girls. Frank Blair's tremendous work on the drill is showing up effectively now, and the costuming is varied and neat. A Mairo dance, in which original music and new steps are introduced, is one of the terpsichorean features.

Tim Dillon, whose Irish comedy has given him a big reputation, appears in clever work with the two principal comedians. The three are literally burn fast keepers, and fall two or three times over in the conduct of their "business."

Because she was tiny, "Dot" Williams, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Williams of this city, has found an opportunity which she has earnestly sought through several years of study. She is to head a "Little Bo-Peep" company which will soon start from New York, and the place has been given her principally because of her diminutive stature.

Miss Dot can stretch herself to an altitude height of 4 feet 8 inches, "in her stocking feet," but proudly boasts that with French heels she can raise herself two inches more. She weighs but ninety-five pounds, and is carrying a very becoming amount of flesh at that.

Melville Raymond of New York, became acquainted with her through one of his managers. He reflected that although at the age of maturity it was quite probable that she knew nothing about stage technique. When he heard that she had been a dramatic student for a long time, and was waiting eagerly for a chance to "get on," and could also dance and sing very well indeed, he was enthusiastic, and lost no time in signing up with her for an engagement.

She will go out as an understudy to the principal for a few weeks, and then, when the new company is organized, she will be at the head of it.

Miss Williams has an abundance of attractive and a voice that is fresh and of excellent quality. She is a Southern girl, with the charm of the South, as a blended part of her personality. She has lived in Los Angeles for the past four years.

Another Los Angeles girl is winning laurel plaudits in musical work in the East. She is Miss Bessie Bartlett, daughter of A. G. Bartlett, president of the Bartlett Music Company of this city. She has spent two years in New York, with Herbert Witherspoon as her vocal teacher, and with Joseph Adelman as her dramatic instructor.

Here is the account published in The New York Tribune of a recent concert at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"Friday afternoon there was a large gathering of the friends of Mrs. W. J. Easley, in the State Room of the Waldorf-Astoria, where they had been invited to meet Miss Bessie Bartlett, of Los Angeles, and to hear this talented young woman in a programme of songs, and a recitation. Miss Bartlett is the daughter of A. G. Bartlett, and she is a charming representative of blooming young womanhood.

"The temperament and good taste are always in evidence, and the quality of her mezzo-soprano voice is extremely musical. Miss Bartlett was a beautiful picture to look upon, in the dramatic setting of this exquisite room."

The accomplished musical visitor is Rubin Goldmark, who is in Los Angeles for a few days.

Mr. Goldmark's last trip to the Coast was made as the accompanist of Mme. Gadski, on her concert tour three years ago. During the present year he has been lecturing extensively upon the music dramas of Richard Wagner. He is known also as a composer, and has written an interesting study upon Beethoven."

Tickets will be on sale at Birkel's music store this morning for the second concert of Allen Beach Yaw, which will be given in Simpson Auditorium on Monday evening.

On the Friday night premier in the new Operahouse, hundreds of people were unable to purchase seats—because there were no more seats to be had.

The opening of the Mason Opera-house burlesque company will take place this evening. The bill is "Piddle-Dee-Dee," The principals are Rice and Cady, Bobby Barry, James T. Kelley, Rosemary Glosz, Edward Gallagher and Lillie Seymond.

NEW METHODIST CHAPEL.

House of Worship in East Los Angeles Dedicated Yesterday Free from Debt.

The handsome East Side Methodist church, just completed at the corner of Boyle avenue and Hancock street, was dedicated yesterday afternoon free of debt. Every seat in the house was filled and the service was impressive. Presiding Elder S. A. Thompson was in charge. Rev. Robert McIntyre preached the sermon. He declared the decision for the building one of the most appropriate in the community, and stressed that within a few years a handsome edifice will occupy the corner. The sermon topic dwelt with the difference of man from the other animals, and was replete with forceful illustration.

"Man differs from the animals in that he has within him the power of growth. His spiritual nature makes him a creature alone." The speaker told of a dog which had shown reasoning power, of a cat which had exercised moral power and of a horse which had a moral nature. Continuing, he said:

"Do you know of a man who has prayed? That man has abdicated his manhood and does nothing more than January to December than a brute. There is no place so fundamental, so glorious as the houses of prayer. Therefore I always love to be present at the dedication of a church. As long as I intend to pay for at least a pew in every Methodist Church in this city."

The ground for the East Side chapel was donated by H. C. Sigler, who also made the furnishings for the interior. The money previously subscribed and obtained $250 to be raised at the meeting yesterday. Presiding Elder Thompson told the congregation the amount was the smallest he had ever tried to collect at a dedicatory service. He gave $50 to start the subscription and the sum was soon realized.

Ranches are very good listing properties, but among them all I really want to show you one that is not so far away. It is high class alfalfa and barley land, in the artesian well district, which means free flowing water, easily piped all over the land. It is now an income producer, with a splendid cottage and all farming implements. As is my custom, I have seen this property myself, and I want you to see it at our expense; there is a fine glass of buttermilk waiting for us, and the cow goes with the place. If interested in this particular property or any other ranch call before noon any day during the week. 7

There comes to every man at some time in the course of his natural life, an opportunity, which if bridled, anchors his future and fortune. It is never a lack of opportunity when one fails, but on the contrary, it is a failure to perceive and grasp one's opportunities, such is natural law, and just as certain as the laws of gravitation in its operation. Have you lived in harmony with this law?

Since last we spoke with you through the medium of this column, the "wizard" has consummated several important exchanges of realty. He does such things daily, but the ones of which we are now speaking are out of the usual and worthy of special note. One trade embraced $21,000 cash value of property located in South Dakota, including some cash, and another deal covered $15,000 cash value of property located in the great State of Ohio, both of which were in exchange for some of our Southern California soil and sunshine, aggregating a total of over $77,000 cash value. These deals, with several similar ones, consummated, again brings our week's business up to about our usual volume compared with the weeks prior to the Fiesta and other causes, which recently bore down a little on our weekly income.

In our last issue we hit the nail squarely on its head in our advertised specialties, which we offered you. Today we shall enroll in attractiveness, even those, among which you will find one section, or 640 acres, in the famous Chino ranch, every foot of which is suitable for raising alfalfa and contains no alkali. This is the garden spot of garden spots, and offered to you at reasonable cash prices, either in exchange or sale. All of this is in the artesian belt, and on each 80 acres we will put down a 10-inch well, guaranteeing water, and plenty of it too, with no additional cost. Look no further, this will please you, and by reason of our superb facilities for selling and trading, we will take in exchange for these lands, anything in real value, either Eastern, city or farm lands, as well as California exchange. We will allow you a full just value for your property and charge but a just price

SICKLY SHEEP FED TO PUBLIC!

SAYS A PASADENA DOCTOR OF REPUTE.

Lecture Animals With Diseased Lungs, and Otherwise Afflicted, Are Being Slaughtered, and, He Believes, Placed on the Market—Disgusting Conditions Exist.

PASADENA, June 3.—A condition nearly as bad as that disclosed by the Chicago packing-house investigation has been brought to light in Los Angeles county. A veterinarian, who has examined some of the sheep that are being killed and sold to Los Angeles meat markets, states that the conditions which he found were disgusting in the extreme.

According to Dr. Medici De Biron there are several sheep ranches in the county where sickly animals are slaughtered for the markets at shearing time. Dr. De Biron happened to be present on several occasions when sick sheep were slaughtered and he examined several of the animals. According to his statements they were in a wasting condition, their lungs being diseased and their flesh generally unfit for human consumption.

Dr. De Biron states that he does not know definitively what disposition is made of the meat of the diseased animals, but that he is under the impression that it is sold to some of the cheap butcher shops, and that it thus finds its way onto the tables of the poorer residents of the county.

Wade Rowland, county veterinarian, when seen by a Times reporter, stated that he had not seen any cases of diseased sheep being slaughtered for market and that he had not examined any of the meat, as that came under the jurisdiction of the meat inspector. He stated that he did not believe that there could be any widespread epidemic among sheep without the state authorities being cognizant of the fact, but that he did know that sheep raised in certain of the lowlands were subject to and to be afflicted with diseases similar to the ones described by Dr. De Biron.

BRUTE BEATS DUMB BEAST.

BRUTAL CASE OF CRUELTY IN SOUTH PASADENA.

Photographs Taken of a Teamster Who Unmercifully Whips a Tired Horse, Unable to Move Further. Second Picture Is Snapped, Showing His Face.

PASADENA, June 3.—One of the most revolting cases of cruelty that has been witnessed on the road in this section was witnessed on the road near the Ostrich Farm Tuesday afternoon. A teamster became enraged because a heavy stay-chain to beat a horse, which did not have the strength to perform the task assigned to it. The teamsters with heavy loads of lumber from a well-known Los Angeles yard, were on their way to Pasadena, and instead of doubling teams as the hill, tried to force the already heavy loads to pull them up singly.

The driver ahead had a mule and a horse which he see-sawed back and forth until they refused to move any more. He refused help from the driver behind him, but swore he would get the mule, and, taking off his stay-chain, began to beat the animal over the back and sides.

The chain fell with most sickening force, and great welts showed on the animal's quivering sides. Finally one of the other witnesses commanded halt and the other team was brought into use. The double team had all it could do to get the load up the hill.

The man who had a camera took a series of snapshots of the offender, following him in the act of beating the unfortunate beast. When the last picture was made the chain-driver noticed that he was being photographed, turned his face away and dropped the chain close to his side. The photographs speak more eloquently than words, though there are four witnesses to the horrible deed.

The case is being investigated by the Humane Society officers, and an arrest will be made if the guilty person can be found. The name of his employer is known, and there is a minute description of the outfit available.

LITTLE LOCALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bovnton, who were married in San Bernardino last Sunday, arrived in this city Saturday morning and will make their home at No. 1164 Center street. The news of their homecoming was broken by the sad news of the death of the bride's father, which occurred early Sunday morning of her wedding day. The deceased lived in Nebraska, and Mrs. Boynton was not aware of his illness until the telegram announcing his death reached her.

A May party at the Capitol was the scene of a delightful affair Saturday evening, when Miss Nellie Tyler, principal of the Lincoln school, entertained her graduating class. A feature of the evening was a Maypole dance in which blue and gold ribbons, the class colors, were used about a May pole.

"ONE GOD ONLY."

The Doctrine Preached by a Layman at Monrovia Methodist Church Yesterday.

MONROVIA, June 3.—The doctrine that one God, as opposed to the Trinity, was advanced at the Methodist Church this morning by Dr. John S. Allison, a layman who gave an address at the invitation of the pastor, on "God, Christ and Humanity."

"God said 'no man hath seen Him at any time, no man can see him,'" said Dr. Allison in part, "and Christ says 'God is a spirit,' according to the original version of the Scriptures, and not 'a spirit' as is ennobled with saying in the common version. I cannot conceive of the Supreme Being, but my conception of God is a universal and all pervadant intellect. He does not dwell in temples, or in any material buildings, but when He is brought to the temples of worship by those who have love in their hearts, and when they go there He goes with them from church. Obedience always descends. In the acts of charity we are helping God onward. It is by such acts and by continually proclaiming the fatherhood of God that Heaven is attained. The will of God will stand without question by man. God loves charity. I would rather go to hell with a clear conscience than reach heaven without it."

MONROVIA MESSAGES.

The children's day exercises of the Baptist Church, held at the Monrovia operahouse this evening, were largely attended, many from the other churches being in evidence. The Aeolian Orchestra, under the direction of F. N. Hawes, accompanied all musical numbers on the programme. The latter included Gounod's "There is a Green Field Far Away," in which Arthur J. Everest gave a cornet solo. A feature of the exercises was the "Crowned Cross," a flower drill by twenty-two young women. The stage of the operahouse was decorated with Spanish daggers, Ascension lilies and mountain ferns.

The preliminary hearing of Alberta Dabney Storrs, which will occur tomorrow morning before Judge Northup in this city, is the subject of much discussion and conjecture, the consensus of opinion being that much which might have been told at the coroner's inquest was withheld and that tomorrow's hearing will develop some new phases in the case.

No trace having been found of Jacob Meister, who disappeared a week ago, Marshal Miller has sent out descriptive circulars throughout the country with the hope of locating him.

Just before noon today, as one of the Pacific Electric cars was rounding the curve in Baldwin's vineyard, just west of Arcadia, at a high rate of speed, one of the wheels broke. Notwithstanding the speed and the curve, the car did not leave the track and no one was injured, although traffic was delayed for some time.

FAVOR EXODUS OF THE FAKERS.

ORDINANCE IN PASADENA TO RID STREET OF BARNACLES.

Belief That Measure Should Be Passed to Prevent Cheap Peddlers from Plying Penny-grafts on Principal Thoroughfares—Business Done by Cherry Peddlers.

PASADENA, June 3.—The street fakers and peddlers have become such a nuisance that the public has begun to complain, and there will be general satisfaction if the Council passes the ordinance, which it now has under consideration, limiting their operations to certain districts.

According to the old ordinance, street fakers were not allowed to ply their trade west of Marengo avenue. As there was but little trade to be had that far east, they did not thrive and the streets were comparatively free from curbstone vendors. The present ordinance places no restrictions on their movements, however, and they have gotten into the habit of placing their wagons where they think they can draw the most trade.

For several weeks past there have been two fruit peddlers selling cherries from their wagons at Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue. The corners which they have taken possession of are two of the busiest in town and they have done a thriving business. There is a feeling that it is not fair to the regular fruit merchants, who pay their taxes and help support the city, to let itinerant vendors come in and carry off part of the trade. The new ordinance will, it is said, meet with universal satisfaction.

According to the present ordinance fruit peddlers can take out a license good for three months by paying the sum of $3 and can then ply their trade anywhere along the busiest streets of the city. Street fakers of the collar-button and shoestring variety, and vendors of quack medicines are required to pay $2 for the afternoon and evening. As nearly all of the goods sold by the latter class are practically worthless, they make about 400 per cent. profit on every article that they sell and the small tax of $2 does not deter them in the least.

The general feeling is that the fakers and peddlers are decidedly harmful to legitimate trade and that they should not be allowed to disfigure the streets and congest traffic to the injury of Pasadena merchants who are engaged in lawful business.

DEVELOPERS MEET.

Members Assemble at Public Session in Sierra Madre—Some of the Work Accomplished.

SIERRA MADRE, June 3.—The development association's public meeting in the town hall last evening, was a representative gathering of the clans. Many matters of community interest were dealt with.

J. G. Blumer, president of the association, called the meeting to order. He rehearsed the work of the association for the past three months; reported that sign posts had been provided for about all street corners and that they were being put up. Some of these enameled signs have already been disfigured so badly that the committee's ire is up. They offer $25 reward for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of any miscreant found defacing them.

The question of cleaning up the streets and vacant property met with quick approval. June 15 is the time decided upon when all this work must be done. The committee was empowered to look after non-resident properties.

The incorporation discussion developed no opposition to the movement, and the first steps were taken leading to that end. E. W. Camp was called on to present the legal side of the question. His advice was to go slow. Others thought so too, when he stated that no city moneys would be available for more than a year. One chief benefit to be derived from incorporation is uniform street work. This, it was shown, could be accomplished without waiting to be a city, but through individual organizations for each street. J. G. Blumer and E. W. Camp were appointed a committee, they to appoint the third party, who will gather incorporation facts from other communities and become informed as to the initial steps.

As a starter for the street improvements to be undertaken here at once, is a cement walk contract for 2100 lineal feet, ten feet wide and 1800 lineal feet, 5 feet wide, as well as curbs, gutters and walls to go with it. It will embrace both sides of Baldwin avenue, from the point where the electric road crosses south; on the west side, to Esperanza avenue and on the east to Live Oak avenue, also Central avenue almost as far west on both sides as Auburn.

RECENT REALTY SALES.

W. F. Hatfield reports two sales. One the choice corner of Baldwin and Alegria avenue, in the Monte Lado tract to Dr. Page Brown of Los Angeles. It comprises a half acre and affords a magnificent site for the $5000 home the purchaser expects to erect. Consideration is said to be $2300. Also a villa lot was sold in the Grand View tract to Dr. Page Brown for which, it is reported, he paid $2300.

BACCALAUREATE AND FAREWELL.

MESSAGE OF DR. M'LEOD TO THE THROOP STUDENTS.

Pastor of Presbyterian Church at Pasadena Takes Motto of Thomas Chalmers as Text and Points Way for Young Graduates—Eve of His Departure for Vacation.

PASADENA, June 3.—The First Presbyterian Church was crowded from pulpit to doors tonight when the pastor, Rev. Malcolm J. McLeod, preached the baccalaureate sermon for the students of Throop Polytechnic Institute. It was also a farewell sermon, as the pastor leaves this week for Europe to be absent six months.

The church was in holiday array for the occasion and Throop colors were shown in the great jars of Matilija poppies and masses of coreopsis. The faculty, the graduating class, numbering sixty-seven, was present, and a large number of young people, both of Throop and of other schools were, in the audience. The music for the evening was of high order. Mrs. Robbins and Mr. Gregg sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" (Lachner,) the choir gave "Gloria from Mass" (Farmer.) A quartette sang "There is a Land" (Protheroe,) and two beautiful organ selections were played.

Dr. McLeod's subject was the motto of Thomas Chalmers and he took as his text: "I must work the work of Him that sent me, while it is day. The night cometh when no man can work." John ix:4.

He spoke of the fact that the president of Throop, Walter A. Edwards, was an elder in the Presbyterian Church, that many of the faculty and students were members, and that many persons in the audience were his personal friends. This, he said, gave him reason to think his audience was in sympathy with him and ready to receive the simple message of truth which he brought to them.

This message was delivered in no unmistakable terms and magnified the dignity and nobility of honest labor.

"Let us look at the motto of Thomas Chalmers," he said, "as representing the typical Christian. It is simple but not shallow. 'Something to do in life; something to love and something to hope for.' To this I will add a few words, and make it 'something noble to do, something noble to love and something noble to hope for.' I do not intend to lecture or teach tonight, I am talking to your intellects. I am simply a herald, a watchman, a mouthpiece, a minister of my divine Master. There was a church in Chicago where the people heard splendid sermons each Sunday and yet each week the congregation dwindled away. Some one asked a wise member 'what is the matter with your church.' The answer was: 'Well, we hear everything about science, about art, music and everything else under the sun, but we do not hear about Jesus Christ.'

"Work, work hard, work like Trojans, endure hardness like Spartans. Love everything, true, good, pure and wholesome. Hate everything false, mean, cowardly and crooked. Love everything lovely; hate everything unlovely.

"Hope for Heaven. If there is no such place as Heaven, there ought to be. My faith is, that there is a Heaven. I have staked my life's work on it. My hope is to enter there. My work and yours ought to be to fit men for that immortal inheritance. Here then, dear young friends, is a grand motto:

"'A grand work—to do the work of God. A grand love—to love the will of God. A grand hope—to hope for the glory of God.' May this motto be yours."

"HOME GARDENING."

PASADENA, June 3.—There are large numbers of kitchen gardens in the yards of Pasadena residents, and the number of citizens who raise their own table vegetables is rapidly growing. Every variety of vegetable that is seen on the California table, as well as fruits and berries of all descriptions, are now being grown by the consumers themselves, and the vegetable peddler will find himself without employment if the custom continues to increase as it has of late. Easterners, who are in the habit of paying fabulous prices for a box of indifferent strawberries, have found that berries grown for practically nothing in a little 8x10 patch in their back yards are far more tempting.

GIRL TAKEN HOME.

PASADENA, June 3.—Nellie Meech, the girl runaway who was apprehended in Library Park last night and was locked up, was taken home by her father this morning and will be given another chance to change her ways. The girl is little more than a child and her mother is anxious to see if she cannot reclaim her from the dangers which her tendency to waywardness may bring upon her. Both the father and mother of the child are industrious, respected citizens and they feel keenly the sorrow and shame which their daughter's runaway habits have brought upon them.

TREE-TRIMMING CRUSADE.

PASADENA, June 3.—Property owners in certain sections of the city have started a tree-trimming crusade and many door yards which have presented slovenly appearances are being brightened up and made presentable. There are a number of orchards within the city limits of Pasadena which have been allowed to run wild and thus become eye-sores.

COLLEGE TOWN'S NEW CHURCH.

CLAREMONT CONGREGATIONALISTS DEDICATE BUILDING.

Handsome Building Erected at a Cost of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Affords Accommodations for Large Gatherings, Displacing the Chapel as House of Worship.

CLAREMONT, June 3.—The new $25,000 church home of the Congregationalists of Claremont was formally dedicated today with appropriate services. Just a little over a year ago definite plans were discussed and formulated which now have culminated in the building and equipping of one of the handsomest houses of worship in Southern California.

For years, ever since the establishment of Pomona College the only religious body in the community has met and worshiped in the college chapel. The increase in the number of college students and the growth of the community finally showed the necessity of increased church facilities. To meet these demands active operation toward raising sufficient funds for the erection of an adequate church home were begun a little over a year ago. In a short time $20,000 was realized from the various subscriptions.

The direct supervision of the building was placed in the hands of L. N. Smith, who, with an able corps of assistants has directed the construction.

The church building is at Fifth and Harvard avenues. The foundation up to the sills of the beautiful art-glass windows is of rough-hewn granite blocks. Above the foundation course are stained shingles and plaster. The interior is finished in weathered and golden oak stain.

The main auditorium and balcony have a seating capacity of 1100 and much additional space is made possible by the throwing open of the Sunday-school room. Every idea of the modern church building is successfully carried out. Large kitchens, studies, music room, with all their respective conveniences, are provided for, making the building complete in every detail.

The dedication services this morning were attended by more than seven hundred persons. The organ prelude, Nocturne in F (Chopin,) was rendered by Mrs. Blakeslee. After the singing of the Doxology, the pastor, Rev. Henry H. Kingman, led the congregation in the Lord's Prayer, followed by the singing of the Gloria. A dedicatory chorus of fifty voices and orchestra under the direction of F. A. Bacon rendered "Unto Us a Child is Born," and "Hallelujah," from the "Messiah."

Taking as his text John ii:16, "Make not my Father's house a house of merchandise," Dr. Kingman said in part:

"That is the way Jesus thought of the Temple at Jerusalem. From the time of His youth till He became a man, the temple was, to Him, the place above all places where men could commune with God. All life was sacred to Jesus. He did not despise the farm or school or place of trade, but the sacredness of labor did not blind Him to the fact that the house of God had a unique service for men and God. It was a place of solemn sanctity, hence He could not endure, as He said, that they should make His Father's house a place of merchandise. There was nothing hidden or subtle in His argument. It was in harmony with the feeling of the masses of common people for unknown ages, who have ever believed in the supreme sacredness of their temples.

"Just as the home has sacred rights of seclusion and loses its indescribable sweetness and sacredness, if it is intruded on by the business of the street or office, just as the operating room of a hospital, where life daily hangs in the balance, is kept from common uses that it may better fulfill its mission, so Jesus recognized that to fulfill its highest mission the church must be kept free from the common care and fret of the school or street.

"The church of the followers of Jesus speedily took this same view. And the church today is the consecrated place of prayer. And should it ever seem to any that our own church is selfish or grudging in the use it makes of this consecrated room, let them remember that it is simply out of a desire to render to every child in our homes, to every family in our village and every student in our schools, the richest service."

AUTOISTS ROB GROVES.

Complaint From Lordsburg That Touring Car Parties Commit Many Depredations.

LORDSBURG, June 3.—Orchardists along the Foothill boulevard at La Verne have suffered heavily during the past season from the depredations of automobile parties. This road being the best and most direct route between Los Angeles, Pasadena and Redlands, almost a hundred autos pass every day, the occupants never have been known to buy the oranges but always help themselves, stripping the trees, breaking limbs and doing irreparable damage.

H. Wilkerson, owns one of these choice orchards, where the Valencia oranges hang in great profusion on his trees and which have, during the past week, tempted many of these fleeting thieves to steal oranges which have cost Wilkerson much money and hard labor to grow.

Yesterday afternoon he caught an automobile party in his orchard, carrying off his oranges in great quantities, they heeded not his calls to halt, but hastily jumped into their automobile and went off at full speed.

The auto, says Wilkerson, was number 1505, and the police state it is owned by J. W. Owen of No. 684 Kipp street, Los Angeles. An effort to reach Mr. Owen today by telephone was unsuccessful, there being no one at home.

Mr. Wilkerson is determined to make an example of these people and as there were a number of witnesses, and the number of the auto and its occupants are known, he may swear to a warrant for the arrest of the entire party, and in this will have the support of the La Verne orange growers.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SOLD.

The Lordsburg public school building and the land, containing two acres, was sold by Auctioneer F. O. Stanker, yesterday. R. A. Wallace bought the land for $200, while the school building which cost $3000 about eight years ago, was knocked down to Hobart M. Williams for $400. Williams will cut the building in two and put the two sections end for end, making a large hall, which he will place on the corner lot, where Dr. Russell's drug store once stood.

When completed, this will make the largest hall in town and will fill "a long-felt want."

[RIVERSIDE COUNTY.]

DEARTH OF PLUMBERS.

It Is in Riverside, and There, at Least, Their Absence Is for the Time Deplored.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because this town is shy on plumbers, perhaps explains its financial rating as the richest community in the country. According to the first month's report of the Building Inspector under the new ordinance, residences abutting upon sewers cannot be compelled to connect because there are not enough plumbers here to do the work and at the same time attend to the new building contracts.

Last month fifty-one plumbing permits were issued by the Building Inspector and this has so overwhelmed the present force that necessary orders to connect old residences with sewers have been suspended until the rush is over.

The Inspector's report also shows that forty-four building permits were issued for a total construction cost of $52,000. It is stated by contractors that the business for May was below the figures of recent months, but this in itself shows an increased construction of $624,000 per year, which for a town of less than 13,000 inhabitants is regarded as a bright evidence of prosperity.

Construction now is greater than during the years when the Glenwood and Indian schools were built. Then, according to the best recollection, the figures did not exceed $500,000.

LITTLE DAMAGE TO MELONS.

Thermal Crop of Cantaloupes May Exceed That of Last Year, Despite Recent High Winds.

THERMAL, June 3.—The recent high winds that it was feared would be so destructive to the melons, have done little damage. The crop promises to be the best ever known in the valley. From present estimates there will be 360 cars of cantaloupes for the Coachella Valley Producers' Association this season. The Thermal crop will equal and possibly exceed that of last year.

WELL PROMISES WELL.

The deep well which C. B. Estle is now putting down for Charles Starrett will be cased this week. This is the largest deep well in the valley, and if an abundance of water in the form of an artesian flow is obtained, many similar wells will be sunk. At 1030 feet a bed of clay was struck. After passing through this, they came upon five feet of good sand, below which clay was again encountered. An unusual flow of water is expected.

THERMAL WAVES.

Lyons Association at Thermal has about completed the enlargement of the packing-house, and the contractor will soon begin work on the new church, for which the members have finally collected sufficient funds.

The publication of the Coachella Submarine has been temporarily suspended because Editor Freeman's melon ranches claim all his time.

[SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.]

JUMPED FOR HER LIFE.

Santa Barbara Girl Saves Herself From Injury by Presence of Mind—Horse Is Killed.

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—Miss Lucy Gidney, the eldest daughter of Secretary C. M. Gidney of the Chamber of Commerce, saved herself from a severe accident, or possibly from death by a quick jump from the back of a horse that was falling off from a steep mountain grade near this city on Decoration Day. She was attending the freshman class High School picnic with thirty-four classmates, who were chaperoned up Mission Cañon by Professor and Mrs. Beers. Most of the pupils walked, but Hazel Pike, the daughter of Charles Pike, made the trip on a horse.

The party went to the upper falls of the creek above the south portal of the city water tunnel, where they had lunch. Upon starting home, Miss Gidney mounted her classmate's horse. The animal refused to make one of the turns and in backing off from the narrow trail above a deep cañon, the outer edge of the road gave away and the horse plunged over the embankment. Miss Gidney leaped from the horse when it first began to fall, and was uninjured. The horse could not rise from its position, and died a few minutes afterward where it lay.

METHODIST SACRED CONCERT.

North Pasadena Church Beautifully Decorated—Rare Programme of Music Rendered.

PASADENA, June 3.—At the North Pasadena Methodist Church, this evening, a programme of music was given which has never before been excelled in this church. The auditorium of the attractive new church was beautifully decorated for this sacred concert with many Easter lilies in long-stemmed clusters and quantities of Queen's Lace, the green feathery fern with countless tiny white blossoms. Great branches of this fern were used with lovely effect against the cream-colored walls. The decoration committee were Mrs. Walter James, Mrs. Hannold, Miss Eva Wood and Kenneth Parham.

The choir was composed of the following: Sopranos, Mrs. J. B. Beardsley, Mrs. Walter James, Misses Nellie Munson and Eva Wood; alto, Miss Mabel Collins; tenor, Paul Greenlee, J. B. Beardsley, Walter James; bass, Charles Moody, Charles Collins, Walter Gholz; Walter James, director, and Miss Elizabeth Baird, pianist. The choir was assisted this evening by Mrs. Ethel Baker, Miss Penwarden, Miss Louise Humphrey and Kenneth Parham.

[SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.]

DEALS DEATH TO HIGHWAYMAN.

SAN BERNARDINO MAN IN EAST SLAYS BOLD ROBBER.

Frank Prescott, Superintending the Building of Engines at Schenectady, Shoots and Kills Masked Individual Who Held Him Up, Taking Some Money, but Leaving More.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 3.—Frank Prescott, who is in Schenectady, N. Y., superintending the construction of engines for the Santa Fé Company, was the victim of a bold highway robbery recently, and, after being held up, shot the robber, whose body was found a block distant from the scene of the robbery, next day.

Prescott was returning from the railroad shops to his hotel and when in an unfrequented place he was suddenly confronted by a masked man, who ordered him to throw up his hands, at the same moment thrusting a revolver into Prescott's face.

Prescott obeyed the command and the robber took a wallet containing $50 from Prescott's inside coat pocket, overlooking $500 which he had in his hip pocket. Then the robber fled, and as he ran Prescott whipped out his revolver and fired at the fleeing form.

Next morning he was apprised of the finding of the robber's body. Prescott acquainted the authorities with the hold-up incident, and was freed from blame for the shooting. He recovered the stolen money.

SECOND-HAND MAN WINS.

The District Court of Appeals at Los Angeles has affirmed the decision of the Superior Court of this county in the case of John Shafer against J. G. Sloan, to recover $500 alleged to be due for failure to keep an agreement made in 1886, when Sloan sold his second-hand store to Shafer and promised never to engage in the second-hand business again in this city, or, if he did, to pay Shafer the sum of $500. After eighteen years Sloan resumed the business. The Superior Court gave judgment for Shafer as prayed for.

RAILROAD MEN IN MINING.

A number of Santa Fé officials have associated in a mining company, proposing to develop several groups of promising mining claims in this county and Arizona. Under the name of "The Cocopah Copper Company," the stockholders authorize the issuance of stock to the value of $1,500,000. Indebtedness is limited to the sum of $1,000,000. The principal place of business is Kingman, Aris., and the stockholders, A. G. Wells, general manager of the Santa Fé; John Denair, superintendent of the Arizona division; G. Holterhoff, Jr., Dan Murphy and G. N. Parks, Jr.

COLTON CULLINGS.

COLTON, June 3.—The annual picnic of the seniors and juniors of the High School came near ending disastrously. As they were returning from their day's outing in Devil's Cañon, the caving in of the road, upset the tally-ho, throwing out the occupants of the first three seats.

Several Colton people will take advantage of the excursion rates this week to eastern points, among them being Miss Emma Wood, Miss Persie Scofield, Mrs. C. V. Phelps and C. B. Hamilton.

The union revival services will be continued this week.

Miss Tacie Hanna left this morning for a week's visit at Long Beach.

B. H. Shepley left yesterday to attend the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows at Santa Cruz.

The High School Alumni will entertain the seniors with a banquet, at the Anderson on the evening of June 21.

OCEAN PARK NOTES.

OCEAN PARK, June 3.—As many men as can be used to advantage are engaged in rushing the new ocean front pavilion to completion. When it is ready for dedication this beach will be able to boast of four roller skating rinks and more square feet of space than is possessed by probably any other like-sized territory in the country.

J. W. Thatcher and family of Catalina street, Los Angeles, have come to this beach for the summer season.

George S. Carlson is spending some time at Oxnard, where he is the guest of his brother Hugh.

Mrs. T. A. Hartley has returned to the seaside, after having spent some time at Colton, where she was a guest at the home of her son, Seth Hartley.

The City Trustees will meet tomorrow night for the first time in the new quarters, over the Bank of Venice. Considerable business of importance that has accumulated during the Pardee holidays is demanding attention. One of the engaging questions concerns the location of the public buildings. A recent bond issue carried an item of $10,000 for site and building. The bonds have been disposed of and the money is in the treasury. The Kinney Company has tendered a free site alongside the pier, but no action has been taken as yet on the offer.

SANTA MONICA BRIEFS.

SANTA MONICA, June 3.—The brake having been removed from the earthquake holidays, it is expected the City Trustees at their meeting tomorrow night will give the orders that will start a large amount of public work.

Mrs. W. M. Bronnfield of Goldfield, Nev., was the guest for a few days of Mrs. F. M. Nickell of Oregon avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Chapman have arrived from Duluth, Minn., and are to once more make their home on this bay, Mr. Chapman having recently been chosen city engineer of Ocean Park.

S. R. Twycross and family of Sierra Madre were the guests for several days of friends on the beach.

As soon as the architects, who are now working on the plans, are ready to receive the bids, building operations are expected to begin in Brentwood Park. Among the other residences planned for early erection in the foothill park is one for J. A. Smith. Mayor Dudley will build there, as also will G. A. Parkyns. F. C. Paulin has decided to join the park colony and is having the plans drawn for a home to cost $20,000.

[ORANGE COUNTY.]

RECORD-BREAKING CROPS.

Are Predicted by Field Deputy Assessor for Orange County—Hay Yield Near Santa Ana.

SANTA ANA, June 3.—Some interesting crop figures have already been prepared by George W. Engle, field deputy assessor, who has about finished his work for the new assessment rolls.

Mr. Engle estimates that the grain area this season will approximate 22,000 acres on the San Joaquin ranch; about 5000 acres on the Santa Margarita district, and 7000 acres around El Toro. Out of this amount of acreage, only about fifteen hundred acres is planted to wheat, the balance being in barley. The barley crop is expected to be a record breaker.

Hay is reported to be damaged considerably by the recent rains, the loss in some localities reaching as high as 30 per cent. The bean crop in this county will excel that of previous years. The San Joaquin ranch has 10,000 acres under cultivation, chiefly in Limas.

The deputy estimates that the fruit crop in this section will be light, especially the apricot crop. This will probably run 25 per cent. below the average yield. Walnuts are also short this year.

CITY'S SIFTINGS.

At a meeting of the Symphony Club, the following officers were elected: Frederick Rafferty, president; L. P. Hickox, secretary-treasurer; J. G. Morrow, Lee Galloway and Miss Dresser, executive committee. The club will not meet until the first Wednesday in October, when arrangements will be perfected for a miscellaneous concert to be given in December.

While plowing the other day, Byron Johnson of Tustin uncovered a quail's nest containing eleven eggs. They were placed under a setting hen, who has brought out a brood of nine healthy birds.

The Rev. W. P. Ong of Ohio will hold a series of gospel meetings here, under the auspices of the Southern California Holiness Association.

SEEKING A SITE.

Huntington Beach People Combine in Efforts to Have an Up-to-Date High School Building.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 3.—J. M. Vickers, president of the Huntington Beach Company, was here yesterday for the purpose of conferring with the committee in regard to selecting a site for the new High School building. Now that Huntington Beach has taken the first step toward securing a modern up-to-date High School for this district, the other portions of the proposed district are rapidly falling into line and stand ready to work together for the best interests of the community.

The Newport people were interviewed on the subject, and all declared themselves heartily in favor of the plan. The sentiment of the entire town seemed to be that Newport Beach would be with this city in the effort to carry the High School proposition through without fail. They wanted it located permanently at Huntington Beach. A number of Wintersburg residents were also seen by the president of the Board of Trade, in regard to the High School, and all were pleased with the idea of having the school permanently located.

The proposed district includes Huntington Beach, Newport, Ocean View, Fountain Valley, and all the scattered remnants of the old Los Bolsa district.

CELERY GROWERS MEET.

Tomorrow the annual meeting of the Celery Growers' Association of Orange county will be held at the Smeltzer packing-house, three miles north of this city.

Some matters of vital importance to the farmers of this section will be considered at this meeting, and a number of well-known and thoroughly informal speakers have been secured for the occasion. Following is the programme for the morning exercises: At 10 a.m., opening address, C. P. Pann; 10:20 a.m., California Vegetable Union, report by W. F. Crossemiller; 10:45 a.m., eastern market, W. E. Gerhart; 11 a.m., local situation, H. S. Haseltine; 11:15 a.m., prospective celery market, E. A. Curtis; 11:30 a.m., drainage and its benefits, F. R. Hazard; 11:45 a.m., cooperation, W. T. Clark. At 2:30 p.m. the members will be called to order for the purpose of hearing the annual report, elect officers and transact such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

Reports will be presented of the situation in the East, with regard to the celery trade. The present condition of the business will be discussed, also the outlook for the future.

NEWPORT BEACH BRIEFS.

NEWPORT BEACH, June 3.—Considerable rejoicing was occasioned here by the recent announcement of the new Southern Pacific time schedule which went into effect June 1.

The schooner J. M. Griffith has arrived at port and is now busy discharging her cargo of 750,000 feet of lumber for the J. M. Griffith Lumber Co. of Santa Ana.

Miss Effie O. Nugent of Oceanside, and Miss Marie Morten of Los Angeles have been engaged as teachers of the public school here the coming year.

The Pacific Electric Company are engaged in moving the machinery into their new sub-station on Fifteenth street.

WOODMEN'S MEMORIAL.

PASADENA, June 3.—The Woodmen of the World held memorial services at Mountain View Cemetery this afternoon and dedicated four monuments to the memory of deceased members of the order, one of them being to the late Harry J. Munger. The address of the afternoon was delivered by J. G. Rossiter. Local Woodmen turned out in a body and the services were well attended.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

His Third Offense.

P. A. Wilcox, chauffeur for a wealthy resident of this city was caught scorching down Main street yesterday afternoon by Motorcycle Patrolmen Majonnier and Berchtold and arrested. This is the third time Wilcox has been arrested, he having been convicted of violating the speed law in both previous cases. With Bert Dingley, the racer, he will have to stand trial on a third offense charge in the police court and if convicted will be in a class with Will Nevin, who is the only man in this city to reach the distinction of three convictions so far. Nevin escaped a jail sentence because a police court justice lacked nerve.

Dives Closed by Police.

Acting under orders from Chief Auble, the police have closed the several dives which have been kept open in defiance of law in the triangle bounded by Alameda, Marchessault and Olivera streets. So long as there was no disorder at these places the police did not interfere and this gave rise to the charge that the places were being protected by some persons high in authority. Recently, however, the occupants of these places, who were said to have been placed there by the notorious Fred Ward, have become so bold that the district became worse than the "crib" district in its palmiest days. The police not only closed the houses, but ordered the women to leave the district.

MARRYING AND MONEY

Every time some men marry they get paid for it. Ministers, for example.

But you have to pay for it. And one of the necessary things you have to pay for is a new frock suit. One of the most unnecessary things is to go other than to Brauer-Krohn's for that frock suit.

We have a special corps of tailors who do nothing other than make dress suits, frock suits and tuxedos. We make to measure frock suits for $45, $55 and $70.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 1.

Gentlemen—I have suffered with asthma for over twenty-five years, have spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get well, and when you commenced treating me I was a very sick man and almost discouraged. The results of your treatment have been marvelous. I commenced to gain from the first, and now I feel as well as I ever did in my life and give your treatment all the credit for my recovery. (Signed)

H. A. MITCHELL,

TALK WITH HODSON
602-604 Byrne Bldg., Los Angeles.
It is not often that I offer stock investments but when I do it is for special reasons and this one is particularly special. Like myself you will be glad to accept an investment opportunity in lumber for which there is just now an enormous demand; prices going up and so are the profits for the producers. A close corporation is being formed now to take over 2000 acres of land with its estimated 25,000,000 feet of timber. You are cordially invited to participate, with others, in this corporation, the shares of which are $500 par cash. No literature issued but either write me or call, any my partners will give you full verbal and documentary information. Not over capitalized and no promoters' stock nor one-man control honorary officials salaries but sufficient capital, everybody paying par value for stock with competent stock holders and properly pay to the superintendent and assistants. The limited amount to be had must be secured at once.
N.B.—I have for sale at par $3000 worth of stock in a local institution. Want that? 6

FOR SALE — TEAM,

MERRY, MERRY TARS, A-YACHTING THEY GO.

Season of Life on the Ocean Wave Opens With Salt Water Souses and Drenching of Duck Trousies of the Mariners of South Coast Club.

THIS is the season when the President of the United States pales into insignificance; the King of Spain becomes a mere dummy for amateur bomb-throwers to practice on; the solar system is turned off at the meter.

For the rest of the summer, Joe Fellows of East San Pedro is it; he's the Big Smoke, the Arc Light, the Bowsprit. Nothing matters now but yachts.

Young wives have come to be suspicious of this yachting business. They know that it starts with a jaunty, blue, gold-trimmed cap in the early morning and ends with a grouch and a blistered nose in the late evening. What goes betwixt and between in yacht racing, woman never find out.

A full and careful investigation was made for their benefit yesterday by Times men, of all the joys of merry, merry yachtsmen—sing ho for a bottle of cold cream and a pair of dry pants.

It is 10 o'clock in East San Pedro. (N. B. It is also 10 o'clock in West San Pedro.)

Bold mariners in blue yachting caps and white duck trousers are meandering down the long walk to the locker rooms of the South Coast Yacht Club. Skiffs are being shoved off. White wings are crawling up the masts of skinny little racing yachts lying off the club wharf. White sails are seen scudding out for the open sea.

On board the judges' boat seafaring men with badges are walking up and down and even around.

Where is Joe Fellows, the Pooh Bah and general good fellow of San Pedro Bay, and skipper of the judges' boat?

Joseph is lying on his back in the dark and dismal cabin, swearing gloomily at the gasoline engine which gets its back off, looks vicious, gives out a dismal wheeze and settles down again to a calm and dignified inactivity.

When the last sail is out of sight and the judges are preparing to drown themselves in despair, the gasoline engine suddenly sits up in surprise and asks if anybody called. Then settles down to work at a rate which sends the Angeline out into the open sea, kicking the foam off the top.

REAL START IS LIKE THIS.

The trouble with yaching writers is that they are too technical. No one can understand from them what relation the baby jib topsail really has to the spanker. The real start of a yacht race is like this:

The center of trouble is the judges' boat, in which the judges vary between wildly clutching at each others' coat tails to keep from going overboard, and fighting with the crews of the yachts.

A quarrel with a fellow in another yacht is one of the most unsatisfactory events imaginable.

Along would come the slick piratical-looking Mischief II with big Jack Densham standing under a red Tam O'Shanter in the bow. He would raise a megaphone and shout:

"What shall we bon u mde towwe gode duje——"

"What did you say?" the judges would screech back.

Densham: "What did you say?"

Judges: What? We can't understand?"

Densham: "What——"

Judge: "Oh, hell."

Densham: "——! ! !—— ! !"

Every boat that came gliding by produced an irate young man standing in the bow with a roar full of questions no one could understand.

Everybody wanted to know something and no one was satisfied with what he found out.

They kept demanding to know how many minutes were left before the starting gun and were highly incensed because they couldn't find out.

At last the starting gun went off with a bang; every yacht turned like a thing of life and scooted over the line. Only, as they went over, most of the yacht captains turned their heads long enough to shout defiantly to the judges that they never heard the starting gun, at all. Just to "show them."

ANGIE SCOOTS AFTER 'EM.

As the last one passed, Joe Fellows ran to the tiller, and the little old Angeline turned around and ran after them like a sea-going jack rabbit.

It must be confessed that it was a pretty sight to see the fleet with spankers and mainsails spread to the wind scudding along shore to the far-off bobbing stakeboat.

Coming back, the Angeline caught the wind raw in her teeth. We don't know absolutely that Angie has teeth, but every one on board said she was in the teeth of the wind; maybe, after all, she didn't have teeth. Anyhow, every one on board got soused with sea water.

An inexpensive substitute for a yacht race would be to have your wife turn the hose in your face while the family roustabout hurls you as violently as possible against the rough side of the house, and some one holds a burning glass over the point of your nose.

The old ocean would get a fellow in white duck pants out on the front porch of the vessel and lull him half to sleep; then raise a piece of water weighing two tons and send it kersouse over him from top to toe.

One young man, whose identity is concealed, hit upon a grand scheme for drying the human pantaloons by standing rearward to the sun. All went very well until the clothes were getting nicely dry, when a tidal wave the size of the City Hall reared viciously up and came down upon him, toying with him as the soup toys with the solitary bean.

If would catch some fellows and play ping-pong with them all over the boat, driving in nails with them, trying to butt them head first through the mainsail. The only man who seemed immune was Joe Fellows, who danced out upon the bowsprit to watch his boat sailing in circles around the other boats.

In the midst of the storm some one raised a brave sailor chantey. All bent their ears to catch it. It didn't begin with a "Yo ho" like most of them. These were the words of the chantey the young man chanted, "Come with me, Lucile, in my merry Oldsmobile——"

JOYS OF A YACHTING LIFE.

At the finish, more of the joys of a yachtsman's life were perceptible. You began to realize what a nice time a yachtsman has when Mischief II went sliding in over the line.

On the bow was a merry young man having a nice time being a yachtsman. He was lying flat on his stomach and the sea was running over his form in cross currents, doing sidesteps down his spine, playing hop-scotch over his floating ribs. The only part of him above water was one khaki leg and his head.

By his side was another young man whose mission in life was to lie on his stomach. His shirt flew loose at his throat, baring his splendid chest. Just as he raised up a little to cheer, the sea rebuked him by dropping a ton or more of water neatly between his chest and the gaping shirt. If you have ever had a playful dipper of water dropped down your neck, you can imagine what it would be like to have two playful hogsheads of it spilled in the same place.

The last merry scene was when Joe Fellows gave the word to pull up the anchor. Everybody rushed gleefully, almost jealously, to be the first to pull up the anchor. Don't you know what a merry scene it is when brawny sailors clutch a hawser and pull in the ropes with the "yo heave ho" ringing in your ears?

But there was one young man who did not rush with the rest. He was a wise young man; he had pulled up anchors before. He said in a burst of enthusiasm:

"I tell you what I'll do fellows; I'll yell yo heave ho while you pull in the anchor."

No one really understands why it is that some sailor always stands by to yell "heave ho" while the others pull; it is quite clear when you have once tried it; 'tis to drown those other terrible words that rise in furious mutters.

You heave and heave until your arms begin to separate at the joints and you can see daylight through the cricks of your elbows as they begin to come apart. Jellyfish come up on the rope and cluster picturesquely about the slime that comes to decorate the front of your coat; the sun blazes a fiery heat upon your nose.

PLAYS MISCHIEF WITH GARDNER.

FELLOWS TAKES ANOTHER VICTORY IN HEAVY SEA.

The Monsoon Beaten by Both Terminal Island Yachts Without Having to Consider the Time Allowance and That, Too, After One Mischief Had Made a Bad Start.

BY STINSON JARVIS.

Fellows played the mischief with Gardner yesterday. In a smashing sea and a wind that put cabin tops awash, Terminal Island scored a double victory over New York. That is to say, both the racers called Mischief and designed by Joseph Fellows of Terminal Island beat the Monsoon, the New York design of the celebrated William Gardner. The first Mischief, now owned by Mr. Mitchell, beat the Monsoon boat for boat, and without making any call upon her time allowance of something like two and a half minutes.

Owing to inability to hear the first gun, the Mischief I got left at the start. The crew thought that there was to be a five-minute interval after the first gun they heard. Consequently it was not until they saw the other racers break out their spinnakers that they realized that the official start had been signaled. If the two minutes and thirty seconds here lost could be deducted from this boat's corrected time it would make the same less than the corrected time of the Mischief II.

The whole affair was of the most spirited kind, and for event and general excitement it has never been surpassed in these waters. The morning promised a fresh breeze, and it came—with wool on its front and the power of a bison bull. The start was well selected by the chairman of the Regatta Committee, Blake Gregory, and was intended to give the yachts a course on which they had not previously sailed—a long run dead to leeward. This was most successfully planned and the send-off was from Point Firmin lighthouse to Long Beach and return.

The starting line was practically an extension of the line between the lighthouse and the whistling buoy. In this picturesque spot, banked by the beetling precipices under the lighthouse and flanked by the leaping cliffs of Catalina, the yachts gathered in large fleets and the west sou'west wind increased gradually until every craft that floated had her full allowance.

Before the start, most of the racers tried themselves on the course to make sure of the right side on which to set their spinnakers, because this was an important point. All flew about in different directions, choosing their positions for the first rush. In this respect the second Mischief, sailed by her owner, Walter Folsom, did the best business. He had heard the 1:25 gun and knew when to approach the line, which he did with his spinnaker boom lowered to port and with his boat on the full rush.

Monsoon came considerable later and was the only craft of classes A and B which set her spinnaker on the wrong side. She rectified the mistake soon after starting, but the ground lost in doing this gave the Folsom boat a better lead. The Venus, the Osborne and all the racers of class B started at the same time. On the Venus sailed Mrs. Bradley and a party of ladies, and the racing fleets were followed by many steam yachts and cruising craft which had come out to see the much-talked-of contest.

Mischief I brought up the rear, and, like the leaders, was traveling with the twin balloons in front. She gradually passed down through the fleet of smaller yachts, but it took her a long time to pass the Venus, which was hustling in her best form.

The new yacht Skidoo, owned and sailed by C. H. Wedgewood, was here for the first time seen sailing alongside the racing fleet of her class. She was not entered in the race, but with only a working jib instead of a balloon jib she almost held the first Mischief on even terms for a long way; and the proofs thus obtained show that when this boat receives the extra ballast and sail which she needs she will make a formidable attack on first honors.

The wind gradually increased all the way down. When four and one-half miles had been sailed, the racers of class B turned their mark and beat back to the start—their race being only nine miles long; but class A held on for a full six miles, and when all were lifting and rushing under their balloon canvas the second Mischief was the first to take in sail and prepare for the windward mark on the way back.

She doused her balloon jib and spinnaker, jibed over and came by the wind on the starboard tack, when she hit several seas pretty hard and was then seen up in the wind. It looked like a breakdown, but the boat then went onto the port tack and continued her racing. It was learned, later on, that some part of the bobstay threatened to pull out, and while this was being examined the boat lost her lead.

At the leeward mark, the Folsom boat led Joe Pugh's Monsoon by one minute, and the first Mischief by two and one-half minutes, thus showing that the latter boat had sailed on even terms with Mischief II during the whole six miles down the wind. The suggestion that the champion of last year is now outclassed by the newer craft therefore requires some further proof for conviction. The new Mischief has to give the older craft something over three minutes in a twelve-mile race, and she certainly was not doing this on the run down the wind yesterday.

The hard and wet part of the work now came in the thrash to windward, when the decks were being swept by the swashes which took every loose sheet overboard, and when the yachts labored and plunged and sliced their way windward. It was a day to test every part of a yacht, from the bolts of her keel to the sheave of her topmost block, and in this long fight, the Monsoon, being splendidly sailed by her owner, was doing exactly the work which Gardner said she could do. For the first time, Joe Pugh was getting part of what he paid for when he went far afield for a racing design. He pointed higher and went to windward better than either of his two competitors, and all three held to the port tack till they were in close to the salt works.

The first Mischief, at this point a beaten boat and far to leeward, saw that she could probably make the end of the breakwater from this spot and swung around to stand out seaward on the starboard tack. This calculation was a correct one, because as she ate out into the increasing wind she was sawing up to windward of her course at frequent intervals, and the man at her mainsheet started it twice before the breakwater was reached.

The other boats, however, tacked again, to get nearer to the calmer water in the bay under Dead Man's Island. This mistake cost the Monsoon her lead, as she took one tack more of a needless kind than the Mischief II. When the breakwater was reached, the first Mischief was close up to the Folsom boat and going with a started sheet, while the Monsoon was third boat and far behind.

After getting out in the ocean seaway the Folsom boat tacked in beside the breakwater and lowered her jib to set up a jury bobstay. But this did not do much good and she sailed the rest of the race in a weak condition forward. Yet the stout oak bowsprit did not break, although it bent upward a bit, and let the rig go back a little. The timber held in place solely by its own strength, as Joe Fellows says, and the fact that it held its place shows that the boat's sailing power remained. In fact, she made better time as against the others in the last two miles than in any other part of the race; gaining rapidly in the calm water under the cliffs and coming out at the finish much further ahead than she was when she lowered her jib.

A large crowd of vessels had gathered to see the racers come in, and again the first Mischief had to make a close calculation in cutting an angle that would put her in to windward of the anchored judge's steamer. Just after Walter Folsom had slipped in as an undoubted victor the finish of the first Mischief and the Monsoon was a close thing that was watched breathlessly. As it was, the old Mischief only retained the lead and got the gun by something less than half a minute, and she was much applauded by those who were pleased to find the old boat very much in the ring.

The officials finishes were as follows: Mischief II, 3:46:45; Mischief I, 3:52:13; Monsoon, 3:52:30. The elapsed times were: Mischief II, 2:16:45; Mischief I, 2:22:13; Monsoon, 2:22:30. The corrected times were: Mischief I, 2:18:54; Monsoon, 2:21:17.

The winner, Mischief II, was clearly the smartest boat, and although she did not break down, her victory has an added glory in that she had several delays, caused by weak condition. The surprise of the day seemed to be furnished by the performance of the old Mischief, but this was only because she did something like her duty and cut her corners at the proper times. Her good position at the finish was largely due to the faults of her competitors. Her owner, Mr. Mitchell, was, however, delighted with the result, and it can be said with authority that instead of being considered a back number, she will now be found in every contest that is open to her.

WILL RESUME WORK TODAY.

Legal Day Since the San Francisco Fire.

Courts May Hold Evening Session for a Time.

City Council May Not Pass Any Important Measures.

The seven departments of the Police Court will open this morning with their rooms more crowded than they have been at any time in the history of the city. This state of affairs is brought about by the long session of legal holidays following the San Francisco disaster and during which it was impossible to try criminal cases of a serious nature. Only "drunks" and petty cases which the offenders wished to plead guilty to received attention and as a consequence about eighty misdemeanor and twenty felony cases are awaiting hearing.

The jail is crowded, all records for the month of the year having been broken at "Hotel Auble." Cases were called from day to day for a while but they soon piled up until all were forced to be reset on the first legal day. As a result some prisoners charged with various crimes have been compelled to three months awaiting trial. Today all cases will be set for preliminary hearing and the prisoners will have to wait a month longer for trial.

Jury cases will also be greatly delayed if it will probably be two years before the dockets are cleared and the courts running at the usual pace. The courts will open at the usual hour this morning. Evening sessions are now being considered as a means of clearing up the dockets as soon as possible.

At present time in the City Prison is one prisoner charged with murder, another with attempted murder, while there are a number of assault with a deadly weapon and assault to commit murder pending. Those charged with these crimes are awaiting preliminary examinations. There are also a number of alleged forgers in jail and several men out on bail and scores charged of a less serious nature are waiting.

The various departments of the Superior Court will resume business today and endeavor to dispose of the cases which have been accumulating during the past month. It has been possible by the court to try a number of civil cases but the work of the criminal department has been at a standstill. Owing to long delays in trying some of the criminal cases, witnesses have disappeared and it was necessary for the district attorney to dismiss almost a score of cases. A sufficient number remain on the docket to keep Judge Shaw's department busy for a long time. Judges of the Superior Court will take vacations and thereby catch up with the accumulated business.

It is believed all the consideration of court business and other matters which have been delayed for nearly a month will be taken up today. The day promises to be a very busy one in all departments of the public service.

WHITES SUIT OF WEDNESDAY.

TROUBLES TO GET COURT AIRING.

The Chutes Company Claims to Be Acting Within Its Rights, Although Its Days License Is His Permit—Chutes Open, Restaurant Closed.

The Chutes squabble will get its first day of settlement on Wednesday when the injunction that closed the restaurant and its liquor-dispensing bar will come up in court.

It is hoped that it is to be hoped that on that day light will be shed upon the cause of the trouble. The fundamental cause enough at the present time.

In the meantime, the Chutes Park continues to run as usual, not affected by the closing order.

Mr. Jahnke, who controls the restaurant and holds the license, has occupied the present place ever since the opening of the Chutes as a park of the first class—a matter of six years.

It declares that when Maier & Zobelein, C. W. Pendleton and Henry Jahnke effected the deal with J. B. Lankershim, which transferred the Chutes property from the former owners transferred to the present owners that the latter did not possess—namely, the lease of the restaurant and its fixtures, according to Jahnke's statement not in their possession.

The Los Angeles County Improvement Company, under which formerly the Chutes Company was operated, had pleasant enough relations with Jahnke during its incumbency, the change put out of business the concessions and interests, the proprietors of which do not take kindly to their retirement.

Jahnke claims to have bought numerous animals in the Zoo, and to have been part of the improvements which were part of the Chutes restaurant property, and his business associates, who assert that they are acting entirely in their province, and that they are only laying claim to that which they are fully entitled by their contract.

It is rumored that an attempt will be made to bring the matter to the attention of the Police Commissioners this week.

Easy To Handle

Next to money, Bonds are the easiest form of wealth to handle.

They pass by manual delivery; they can be stored in any safe place; they can be readily converted into cash; and, unlike stored up money, they constantly produce interest.

Our Bond Department supplies standard Bonds in denominations of five hundred and one thousand dollars, returning interest from five to five-and-one-half per cent.

MOORE LEAVES FOR NEW FIELD.

LOCAL ASSOCIATED PRESS MAN OFF FOR THE EAST.

News Gatherer Who Has Distinguished Himself in His Profession on the Pacific Coast Will Report for Orders at New York Headquarters After Vacation.

Ewell D. Moore, for nearly five years the Los Angeles manager of the Associated Press, will leave today for the East to pass a month in the enjoyment of a well-earned vacation, at the end of which he will report for orders at the main office in New York of the great news-gathering agency to which he has rendered distinguished service in the many years he has been connected with it.

To what field Mr. Moore may be assigned for future service is a matter only of conjecture. It is known he is not to return to Los Angeles as manager of the local bureau and it is the opinion of those conversant with Mr. Moore's capabilities, and who know of the valuable services he has rendered his employers, that a substantial promotion is in view for him.

It may be that he will be assigned to duty in New York, Washington or some other of the leading news centers, while there is a possibility that he will be sent to fill an important place in the cable service at some point abroad, a branch of the service for which Mr. Moore is known by his friends here to have a predilection.

To whatever field he may go, Moore will carry with him the best wishes of the many friends he has made while in this city. Their regret at his departure will give way in a measure to the gratification that comes with the knowledge that his talents have earned him a place in a broader field.

By those who are conversant with what Moore has accomplished for the Associated Press in nearly thirteen years of service on the Pacific Coast, it is felt to be a certainty that he would not be taken from here unless it were to be given a place of greater responsibility.

Moore's handling of the story of the Bennington disaster won him commendation not only from his employers, but from many of the leading newspapers throughout the United States, while his trip from San Francisco to Honolulu on the cable-laying steamer afforded him the distinction of filing what undoubtedly is the longest single message sent through the submarine strands of the Pacific cable—a story of 3500 words that told graphically to the world of the important historical event marked by the connection of the far islands with a continent.

Within a few hours of the time that the earthquake rocked San Francisco, Moore was on his way thither from Los Angeles and acted as Superintendent Paul Cowles's chief aide, being placed in immediate charge of the press bureau organized by the Associated Press to gather and disseminate the stirring news of those first awful days in the stricken city. In this work he was engaged for two weeks, having under his direction a force of twenty-six men, and supervising the filing of from 20,000 to 25,000 words a day of the news that was to be spread before eager readers throughout the world.

Moore has been in the service of the Associated Press since 1889, first as telegraph operator in the principal cities of the country, and, after his arrival in San Francisco thirteen years ago, as news man. It was while he was a crack "A.P." operator that he engaged in the international telegraph contest in New York in 1895, and there won the honors as the fastest sender of Morse characters among several hundred contestants. He made the remarkable record then of sending an average of thirty-five words a minute for a period of five minutes, each word of a long and difficult extract being spelled out in full, and all without an error of any kind, even to a superfluous dot.

All these accomplishments are aside from traits of character that have endeared Mr. Moore to those who have come in close contact with him during his stay in Los Angeles, and who, in their regret at his departure, join in wishing him every success in his new field.

John Elliott, who has been night editor of the local bureau, succeeds Mr. Moore, and F. J. McGettigan of San Francisco has come to assume the duties of night editor.

WOODMEN'S MEMORIAL.

Graves of Departed Comrades Decorated, and Impressive Exercises Held in Rosedale.

The Modern Woodmen of America, assembling from all parts of the city, honored the memory of departed comrades yesterday afternoon by impressive ceremonies in Rosedale and Evergreen cemeteries.

Early in the afternoon the downtown streets were bright with various uniforms of the different camps. The exercises were held principally at Rosedale, under the auspices of Pacific Camp, and the various neighbors, forming squads or platoons downtown, went in a body to the central rendezvous.

The principal address was made by Rev. Will A. Knighten, and music by a band, interspersed with vocal numbers, made up the main part of the incidental programme.

A thorough canvass of the two large cemeteries was made, and departed neighbors' graves, however isolated, were searched out and bountifully spread with bright blossoms.

Our Special Offer

NO FEE

We give the best medical attention experience and skill can furnish, leaving the question of payment contingent upon a perfect and permanent cure. We do not expect any fee from responsible parties until you are satisfied beyond a shadow of doubt that you are CURED to stay CURED and no larger than you will be willing to pay for high class medical service.

This liberal offer is made to enable those to be cured who have spent their money in doctoring without relief and to show the many who have treated with dozens of physicians without benefit that we have the only methods that produce a lifelong cure.

Contracted Disorders

Every case of contracted disorders we treat is thoroughly cured. Our patients have no relapses. When we pronounce a case cured, there is not a particle of infection or inflammation remaining, and there is not the slightest danger that the disease will return in its original form or work its way into the general system. No contracted disease is so trivial as to warrant uncertain methods of treatment, and we specially solicit those cases that other doctors have been unable to cure.

Who Have Contracted Disorders

The progress in the study of contracted disorders in the past few years has resulted in advanced methods of securing permanent results. In my practice I use special methods of irrigation, and a method of my own devising for installations that cure PERMANENTLY in from 3 to 10 days. I make frequent inspections of the canal by means of a small electric light, which enables me to see and to treat each inflamed part separately, and I am also enabled to show the patient himself the conditions that actually exist. Following my treatment there are no evil after results. There is no stricture to fear, not the slightest chance of a chronic condition but there is COMPLETE healing of the inflamed and poisoned tissue. Never use harsh injections or drastic internal remedies to stop the discharge, for if you do it is certain that in the future you will find your state worse than ever. I guarantee you a PERFECT CURE, and as well as that

HAVANA CIGARS

HERE IT IS BY HERRERA.

WANTS TO RIGHT HIMSELF WITH PUBLIC.

Says He Was Told That It Was Tricky, and That He Has Been Misled by Friends. Willing to Fight Nelson for Five Years. Public Can Come Free.

Herrera handed the following statement to The Times last night:

"Much has been written about the affair at Tesco, and in nearly every case I have been given the worst of it. To fair-minded people, it is interesting to look at my side of the question.

"I suppose, for the sake of argument, that I was overweight at 6 o'clock. Let us leave my supposition out of the question altogether. I was there to weigh at 6 o'clock, and I was in the ring at 2:30, as stipulated in the agreement.

"The public cannot appreciate the work done on a fighter who is kept waiting in the ring. I waited, and during Nelson's non-appearance, for the long time, hanging round a dressing-room in my fighting togs, my nerves at a high tension, waiting for news of my opponent.

"No news appeared soon after 6 o'clock. There would have been no difficulty. If I had stepped onto the scales at 6 o'clock, I assure you, would have weighed no more than Nelson did later.

"I am not getting around the fact that I spent the time between 6 and 8 p.m. in a Turkish bath. He says I was sweating down weight that should not have been. That is as it may be say, but it looks a trifle queer when a man comes to the ring. after four hours in a Turkish bath stands a weight test.

"It was my actual belief that Nolan would remain in the baths that he might gain sufficient weight to go over the 133-pound limit. If I had been on the scales at the time Nolan wanted me to, I would have been over 133 pounds, after striving for a 6 o'clock limit. A man gains weight very quickly, and Nolan's bath probably kept him under the limit and Nolan would then be in the position to claim that if I beat Nelson, I could not claim lightweight championship, having not over 133 pounds.

"In connection I would refer to the Nelson fight in Colma. The conditions then were similar to those of the 2d. For over two hours I was waiting round on the ring, while Jack J. Jeffries, the referee, was trying to get his boy fairly. He failed so far that many in the audience clamored for their money and many disgusted spectators left the building.

"After Nelson did arrive, I absolutely had Nelson guaranteed to me after doing so. But I did not do.

"The most opprobrious epithets were applied. 'Indian,' 'low-down,' 'no good for nothing,' etc., but the result of newspaper opinion to stand in with the public which they try to form to their own advantage.

"I am no Indian. If so, I command respect as a scion of royalty. I am no 'low-brow,' but my knowledge of the English language is up to the standard observed by the knocker who is flattened out on his anvil. And I have never had any inclination for dirty work.

"I am sure that I may have been misled by friends with regard to Nolan. Weeks I had had it from me that Nolan was the man that he would bluff up to the second. Naturally, this had an effect on me, and this, I paid too much attention to, and my manager advised. At times a fighter does not obey orders, he might as well do without the game. Ask Battling Nelson.

"I have been accused of cowardice and afraid to meet Nelson at 133. I am not afraid to meet Nelson or any other man near his weight in the world. I stand ready to fight him under any conditions (and my pecuniary ability) he chooses, at any time he pleases, and for the better. And preferably to-day.

"The reason for preferring Los Angeles is that I feel the public was disgusted, and I want to give them a chance to wallop the Dane and see him where he will be chased with a ticket, like the veriest pretender-he.'

"To guarantee, I will put up any amount my challenge is accepted. I will fight Nelson anywhere, from a back parlor to the neck of the ocean, at any time he names and, if the fight labeled 'Bat' as a back number and Fishes, give me a chance to present manager.

"AURELIO HERRERA."

BETTING GAME QUIET.

Club Talked of is One That Owner Wants to Get With Abe Attell.

The only fighting dope the local fans have to content themselves with, at present, is the talked-of match between Attell and Kid Solomon. It is said that Solomon claims he can make 126 pounds, stripped, without much trouble, and is willing to meet Attell at that weight. Solomon is said to think that Attell will be able to put up Solomon in such a way that the fight would be of no interest to a contest. Of course if this match is made it could not be pulled off at the Pacific Club for the reason that they have nothing to do with the match, and the alleged revelations that are to be made with Green. It is pretty safe to bet that Abe would beat Solomon easily for he has won from Jimmy Forbes, Herrera, Young Corbett and a score of other boys that Solomon could not get by.

Jimmy has several good matches on hand, but is not prepared to give out anything at present, but he promises some events.

BATTERS UNSETTLED.

Pacific Club is Still Playing for an Owner—Eager, Hall and Tomlin Go North.

There is no news to give out in regard to the Los Angeles ball club for the reason that Pendleton, who owns the team, is attending the Legislature and will not return before the end of the week. Jim Jeffries is raising "garden sass" and chickens out near Burbank, and Tom Tomlin is endeavoring to forget the trade he got back for Herrera. With these three interests occupied, such business as the ownership of a baseball club and Pitcher Hall left last night for the north to join the Angeles team and Jimmie Hall left last night. Those will be on the playing staff in Dillon, Bergeman, Cravath, Bernard, Ellis, McClelland, Toman, Eager and Hall. Gray, Brashear and Ross have jumped to the outlaw club in Johnstown, Pa.; Atz went to the New Orleans club and Nagle and Toser hopped to Buffalo, N. Y. Nagle and Atz will probably be brought back here, but those who went to the outlaws are lost.

SEALS WIN FINAL GAME.

RANDOLPH'S PITCHING WINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OAKLAND, June 2.—The Seals took the final game of the series from Fresno this afternoon by the score of 4 to 1. Randolph, an Alameda pitcher, did the trick. San Francisco, 4; hits, 9.
Fresno, 3; hits, 2.
Batteries—Randolph and Wilson; Fitzgerald and Dashwood.

Umpire—O'Day.

TEAMS BREAK EVEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, June 2.—Cincinnati and St. Louis played a double-header this afternoon. In the first game errors by the visitors contributed largely to the defeat. Pitcher Egan of St. Louis was put out of the game in the third inning of the first game for disputing a decision. The second game was limited to seven innings, in order to allow the St. Louis team to catch a train. Druhot held the locals down to four hits. Ewing was hit hard. Score:

First game:
Cincinnati, 4; hits, 6; errors, 1.
St. Louis, 3; hits, 9; errors, 2.
Batteries—Weimer and Livingston; Egan, Hoelskotter and McCarthy.
Umpires—Conway and Emslie.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

MULLEN BEATS ST. LOUIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

St. Louis, 1; hits, 4; errors, 4.

Batteries—Pelty and O'Conner; Mullen and Schmidt.

JOSS PITCHES BEST.

TENNIS THIS WEEK.

AMERICAN TEAM TO APPEAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—The American lawn tennis team of challengers for the Dwight Davis cup are scheduled to play the first of the international matches at Liverpool, today, and to meet the winners of the Australasian series on June 7, 8, and 9, at Newport, Wales. The finals against the British holders of the cup will be played on the courts at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16, and 18.

Minor Baseball.

The Keystone club of this city played a double-header at Arcadia yesterday and won both games easily. The first was with the Newsies of this city, and these were beaten by a score of 10 to 1, the batteries being Reigel and C. Whalen, and Smith and Mockler. In the other game the Keystones defeated the Christopher nine by a 7 to 0 score, the batteries being B. Simonds and Roberts for the winners, and Lyman and Cass for the losers.

The Bailey & Schmidts club beat the Watts Stars at Watts yesterday by a 4 to 1 score.

Seattle Papers Sore.

The newspapers up in Seattle are still knocking the Coast League in the hope that Seattle will draw out and go back to the Northwest bush league. It appears that Class A ball is too much for the Seattle newspaper reporters and they would probably thrive better on the kind that is dished out by the Northwest league. The Coast league teams would raw well in Seattle if it was not for the knocking the league gets there.

TAMERLANE FIRST.

WINS BERMUDA YACHT RACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAMILTON (Bermuda) June 2.—The yawl Tamerlane, owned by Frank Maier, and sailed by Capt. Thomas Fleming Day, competing in the Brooklyn Yacht Club's ocean race to Bermuda for the Lipton cup, was sighted at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and crossed the finish at 3:25 p.m. The Tamerlane reports that she has not seen the sloop Gauntlet, owned by G. W. Robinson, another competitor for the cup.

Jockey Waterbury Dead.

John Waterbury, a young jockey who rode in the Ascot races last winter, died yesterday in this city of consumption. He was known by name to the patrons of the local races, but was better acquainted in San Francisco, from which place he came to this city. He was only an ordinary jockey, and was not noted for any particular brilliancy. He rode such horses here as Alsona, Peeping Tom, Rocklands, Regal and Blue Bottle, but never showed much ability.

CHUTES GOUGES BALL PLAYERS.

MAKES AMATEUR TEAMS PUT UP HEAVY RENTAL.

"Help Baseball Along" by Charging Fifty Per Cent. of Receipts. Tufts-Lyon Team Loses Two Games of a Double Header—Hoegees Get Scalps of Rivera Team.

The Chutes management that has been quoted as saying that it desires earnestly to assist the baseball business in this town in every way possible, gave an awful imitation of trying to yesterday, when it charged three amateur baseball teams 50 per cent. of the gross receipts for the permission of playing in the grounds. As there were between 500 and 600 people at the games this would probably be $100 at least, and 50 per cent. of this would be $50. For the percentage the Chutes management is to do the advertising of the games which it is said they don't do and as they pay the ground keeper but $10 per week, the percentage was enough to pay his salary for several weeks and have enough left over to buy packing-house meat for the beasts in the cages.

Notwithstanding this fearful hold-up handicap, the three teams played good baseball and furnished an interesting afternoon to the fans. The first game was between the Hamburgers and the Tufts-Lyon and the former won by a score of 7 to 2. The second game was played by the Examiners and the Tufts-Lyon and the Tufts also lost this by a 4 to 1 score. The players certainly did not do their best, for with the awful specter of the Chutes management reaching over the fence into the box office, and taking away half the receipts, it is small wonder that the boys did not make more errors than they did.

In the Hamburger-Tufts game, Champion and Leahy formed the battery for the Tufts and Hartman and H. Mangerina for Hamburgers, the hits being six for Tufts and five for Hamburgers. The winners however, got theirs at the right time and were helped along by errors.

In the second game, the battery for the Examiners was T. Whaling and P. Mangerina, for the Tufts, Ford and Sylva, the winners making thirteen hits and the losers four. There were no special features in either game.

Out at Rivera, the other two teams of the league, the Hoegees and the Riveras, played against each other and the Hoegees won by a 7 to 3 score. This was a slugging game for the Hoegees made nine hits and the Riveras five, the Hoegees having three errors and the Riveras six. The batteries were Gamble and Snodgrass for the Hoegees and H. Lucere, Briswater and Schildwater for Rivera.

I saw Dr. Tom She Bin's advt. and came up to his office to have my pulse felt. I had malarial pains all over my body and chills besides woman's ailment. He told me what my trouble was. After one week's taking Chinese herbs I was a great deal better. I was sick for six years; no white physician did me any good. I took his herbs six weeks and was well; I was cured. MURDER WILL BE THE CHARGE.

ITALIAN SHOT SATURDAY NIGHT CANNOT RECOVER.

Attacks Upon Him Believed to Have Been Premeditated and Carefully Planned—George Ardizone, Who Fired the Shot Has Disappeared.

Detectives are still on the trail of George Ardizone, whom they say attempted to murder George Maison near the corner of North Main street and Avenue 19 Saturday night. Maison was walking south on Main street when he met Ardizone, with whom he had quarreled, and the latter immediately opened fire with a revolver. He fired three shots and then disappeared in the darkness.

Only one of the shots took effect, but the wound it inflicted will probably prove fatal. The wounded man was removed to the Receiving Hospital and later to the French Hospital, where he was operated upon yesterday by Dr. Leon Roth and Dr. Meyers. The surgeons failed to find the bullet, but traced its course from the point of entrance in the breast through the lung and lost it in the muscles of the back. They found the ball had severed the spinal cord and have no hope for the man's recovery.

At the hospital last night it was said that Maison was very weak, but seemed to be holding his own. It is thought that he will live for a day or two, but not longer. When taken to the Receiving Hospital he was able to tell who shot him, but yesterday he could not talk at all, and did not recognize any one.

Maison and Ardizone are Italian fruit peddlers. On Saturday the two men had a violent quarrel over a trade in fruit and Ardizone, it is said, declared he would kill Maison. The latter thought that when Ardizone's wrath had cooled he would be more rational and would forget about the trouble.

The Italian was so enraged, however, that he sought an opportunity to carry out his threat and went out Saturday evening with the deliberate intention of murdering Maison, and the moment he came face to face with him, opened fire.

Where the murderer disappeared to is a mystery on which the police detectives are working. The case is a difficult one, because other Italians in the colony here are doing all they can to aid the criminal in escaping and refuse absolutely to talk about the case, saying they never heard of it.

There have been two murders and one attempted murder of the same character in this city during the past few months, and the guilty persons are still at large, despite the efforts of the police to locate them.

CAN FIND NO TRACE OF HIM.

CHARLES CLARK DISAPPEARS AND SUICIDE IS FEARED.

Domestic Trouble Had Separated Him from His Family and He Had Made Frequent Threats That He Would End His Life—Had Been Drinking When Last Seen.

The police have found no trace of Charles Clark who disappeared Thursday from the Springman Villa, No. 1818 Downey avenue, where he boarded. It is feared that Clark sought an out-of-the-way place and committed suicide.

Threats which the man made make the police believe that this is what he has done though they say he may have laid his plans to drop out of sight and leave, allowing his wife and family to believe that he was dead.

Clark left his wife and their two children about six weeks ago. He went to the Springman Villa to board and there, it is said, he seemed despondent and began drinking heavily. Wednesday night he went to the place intoxicated and raised such a disturbance that the police had to be called in. The man was put to bed, but the next morning had disappeared, leaving all his clothes, his watch and money in his room.

Search was immediately begun, but all efforts to locate him have proven futile and not one trace of him have the police or his friends discovered. Clark seemed to be very bitter against his wife according to those who knew him and often declared that he would "fool her."

On account of his repeating this threat so often the police believe that he had laid plans to either take his life or disappear entirely, so completely in fact, that neither his wife nor his friends nor relatives would ever know whether he was living or dead.

ARE THEY MARRIED YET?

Sudden Trip to Arizona by Two Well-Known Persons Leads to Interesting Question.

Have they been married yet? This is the question the friends of Mrs. Emma H. Fellows, No. 1726 West First street, and of Timothy Phillips, Deputy City Assessor, are asking each other.

Saturday Mr. Phillips started for Douglas, Ariz., assuring his friends and business associates that he was just going to view some mines there. "Yes," said one of them yesterday, "he told us he was going to look at mines, but we 'jollied' him, and asked him if he was to be married. He did not deny it."

Now, strange to say, Mrs. Emma Fellows felt a sudden call to go to Arizona also Saturday. Those who know say there is "method in their madness," and that as soon as they arrive in Arizona they have planned to seek out a minister and be married. Mrs. W. T. Jeffries of No. 1636 Rockwood street, who is a sister of Mrs. Fellows, had nothing to say about it. She could not deny the facts, but said they were premature. Mrs. Fellows is a wealthy woman and moves in society. She has lived here a number of years and is a widow. She is a handsome woman, and Mr. Phillips is said to have been devoted for some time in this direction. He is well known in city official circles. He is now Deputy City Assessor. He is also a Grand Army man. He is a widower.

Mr. Phillips and Mrs. Fellows have been friendly for some time, and notwithstanding they are both over middle age, the courtship has been seasoned with a spice of romance. They did not like the formality of a large wedding, and their friends were all too anxious to assist in the romance, so they decided to give them the slip and come back a wedded pair—that is what the friends say.
